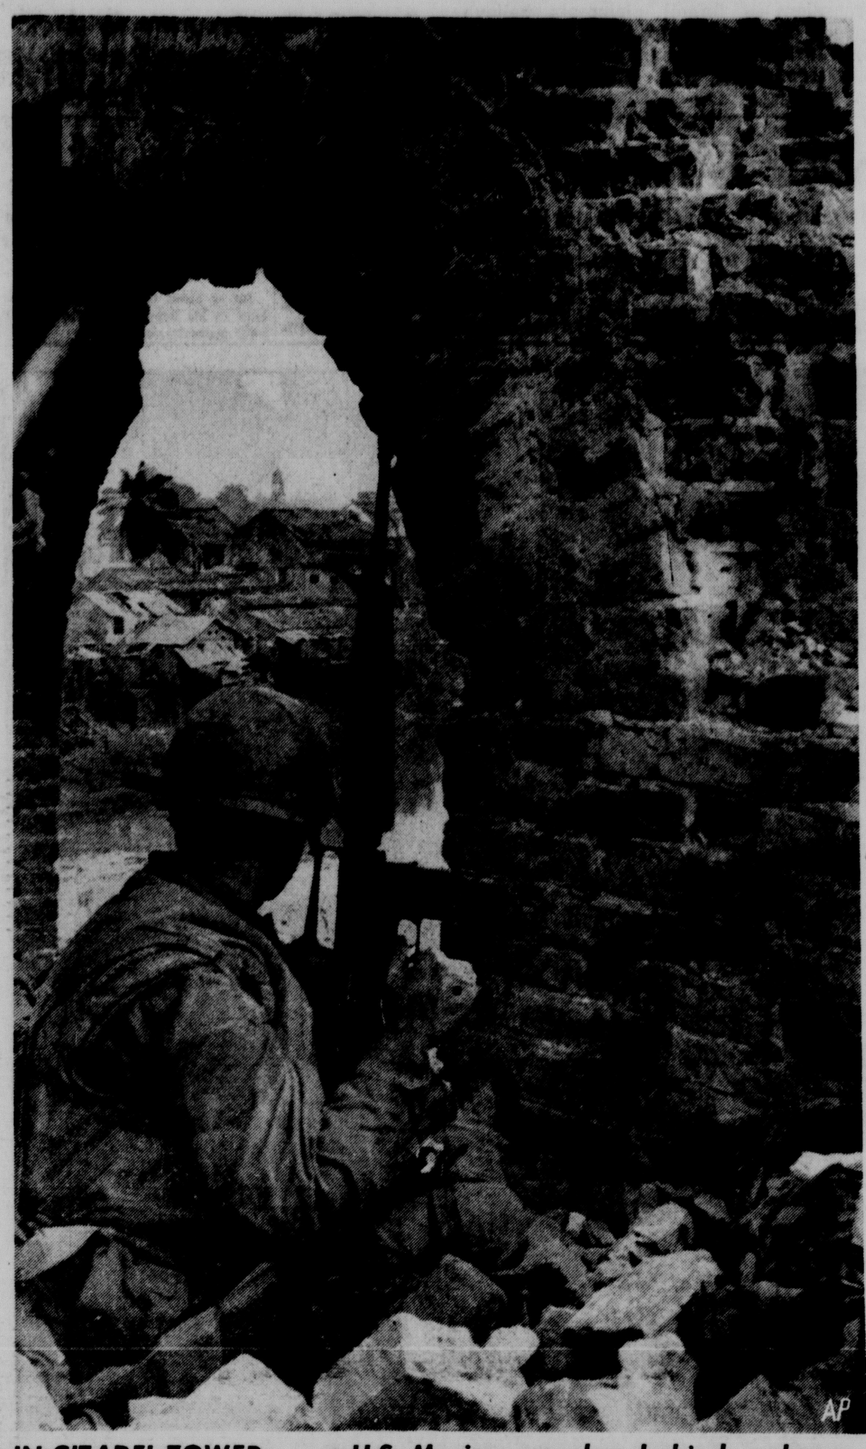
REDS AIM 'TO LEVEL SAIGON'

...123 Viet Cong Slain In Suburbs



IN CITADEL TOWER . . . a U.S. Marine crouches behind archway.

Saigon (AP) — The Communist high command, thwarted in efforts in its opening offensive to seize Saigon, is reported to have called for leveling of South Vietnam's capital in second wave attacks before the month is out.

Intelligence advices reaching the U.S. mission said Viet Cong of Kien Hoa province in the Mekong Delta had been told the second wave would run to the end of February.

The guerrillas were said to have been ordered to supply maximum reinforcements for a new battle for Saigon in which the aim would be to destroy the city.

American infantrymen caught up with a band of Viet Cong storming through Saigon's northeastern suburbs Tuesday and killed 123 in a blazing, four-hour battle.

The fight developed after U.S. 1st Infantry Division soldiers set up blocking forces in Thu Duc, six miles northeast of Saigon. They were trying to catch Viet Cong who had battled Vietnamese marines two days earlier at Binh Loi bridge.

Area of Small Farms

The Americans called in helicopter gunships, fighter-bombers and artillery during the fight through an area of small farms. U.S. losses were 15 killed and 11 wounded.

Vietnamese rangers who have skirmished repeatedly with guerrillas around the Phu Tho racetrack, went further afield Tuesday.

They reported they lost nine wounded and killed 32 Viet Cong in a fight through rice paddies a mile west of the Phu Tho cemetery.

Rangers Search

The rangers moved out again Wednesday, searching for guerrillas and for enemy antiaircraft guns.

The South Vietnamese command said aerial observers had seen guerrillas setting up several antiaircraft weapons 2½ miles southwest of busy Tan Son Nhut airport.

Allied jets hit the suspected gun emplacements with bombs and rockets. The rangers moving into the area will assess the results, Vietnamese officials said.

Reports Conflict

Private sources said they heard that up to two battalions of Viet Cong — perhaps 800 men — were in action west of the city. But military authorities said they had no word of any significant incidents there or elsewhere in the immediate area of the capital.

Saigon police and allied troops were already on full alert for developments in the second wave, which dwindled after its opening with rocket and mortar attacks on 47 centers and a few ground assaults across the country Sunday.

The Communists were estimated to have 10,000 to 15,000 men within a day's march of Saigon, including units of the 7th North Vietnamese Division and the 5th and 9th Viet Cong divisions. Far more allied troops are close at hand.

Communist crews kept up their widely spaced shelling of Saigon's Tan Son Nhut air base, loosing four rounds of rocket or mortar fire Tuesday.

Far to the north, the fighting for Hue entered its 22nd day. Though under heavy allied pressure, Communist troops still held out in rock piles that once were walls and buildings of the citadel.

Heavy Clouds

U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops inched ahead Tuesday toward Red pockets on the south side of the big compound, which flanks the Perfume River.

With sections of Hue back under police control, however, the provincial chief, Lt. Col. Pham Van Khoa, issued orders that looters be shot on sight and that refugees be screened to seize Viet Cong hiding among them.

Executions Planned

Khoa said there would be public executions within two days of some captured Communist agents involved in assassinations and in plotting to wrest Hue from the government's control.

Pool Halls Racking Up New Image

By DAN DICKMEYER
Star Staff Writer

Brightly lit, carpeted, soundproofed pool centers are driving out the old image of the dingy, smoke clouded, men only pool hall.

The change in Lincoln is not due totally to the repeal of laws setting an 18-year-old age limit on pool playing. It is also because of the growing respect given pool playing by businessmen.

In one downtown pool hall the old and the new image live side by side.

A table of cigar-smoking, white-shirted executives play a rousing noon hour game of pool next to two tables occupied by eight elderly gentlemen, dressed in sweaters and bib overalls.

"Those two tables are our million dollar tables," the man "racking" the balls grumbled. "They're retired farmers." He bent over to use the spittoon. "There's about a million dollars there."

"Some of these fellows have been coming in here for 50 years. And there's those professional people. But they're all good people — good for something or good for nothing," he quipped.

Other pool halls report the same phenomenon of business — men using pool as a lunch hour dessert. Private clubs do a booming noon pool business and one pool hall reported that four University professors play at least an hour a day.

In most pool halls, however, the emphasis is clearly on youth. Juke boxes and pin ball, cigarette and pop machines are a necessary part of the business.

"To me the younger kids are the ones that really enjoy it," said Don Morgan, a pool ball manager. School vacation we could hardly handle anymore. So you know the change in law has had an effect."

Morgan said he has had no problem with rowdyism. Lincoln police department juvenile officer, Lt. Gail Gade, reported no change in pool hall complaints "since we are no longer looking for age limit violators."

The young pool enthusiast is affluent. Three youths in Morgan's place of business said they played three to four times a week. They own their own cues and work in the hall on Sundays to pay their way.

In the newer pool halls, while the emphasis is still on youth, pool has become a family sport.

According to Roma Baker, a pool hall employe, "It's a regular sport like bowling or golf."

Carl Matson, owner of a pool hall, said that 90% of his business is 16 through college age but weekends bring in a number of families.

Prepaid Legal Insurance To Be Tried

Chicago (AP)—The American Bar Association, convinced that many persons shy away from hiring lawyers because of feared high costs, gave the go-ahead Tuesday for a limited trial run of prepaid legal insurance similar to medical insurance.

The ABA's policy-making House of Delegates authorized experimentation with a pilot project in cooperation with state and local bar associations.

Paul Carrington of Dallas, a member of the ABA's Special Committee on Availability of Legal Services which recommended the trial, said the size, location or date of the experimental plan hasn't yet been decided.

Tight Budgets

In its report to the delegates, the committee said: "In a day when most wage earners live close to the fiscal line any unanticipated expense can be serious, if not catastrophic. Every private practitioner has met too late the client desperately in need of legal services who avoided seeking them because of what the cost of such services might do to his precarious standard of living."

Committee chairman F. William McCalpin of St. Louis told the delegates that actuaries who studied the idea believe it is feasible although many questions remain to be answered.

Services under consideration would include traffic court appearances, adoption, bankruptcy, change of name, examination of major installment purchase contracts, examination of residential leases, income tax audit, purchase or sale of real estate, and preparation of a will.

It also is proposed that the basic benefits provide for an annual legal checkup under which a client could talk his legal problems over with a lawyer for one hour.

Perhaps $50 Apiece

The committee suggested the experiment could embrace a group of 1,000 persons paying a $50 annual premium over a trial run of three or four years.

Undecided yet is whether the experiment would include major benefits with deductible provisions under which the insurer would pay the initial portion of high costs.

"We are confident that bar organizations may be found willing to enter on this adventure in a spirit of enterprise knowing that if it fails they will be losers of time, effort and perhaps a little money, but that if it works the profession and public will be beholden to them forever," the committee said.

West German Decries Anti-American Climate

© New York Times Service

Bonn — Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger decried Tuesday a "certain climate of anti-Americanism" that he said is waxing in West Germany.

Speaking to the national executive committee of his Christian Democratic Union (CDU), Kiesinger asserted that the United States is the country with the greatest stake in peace and freedom throughout the world. Therefore, West Germany must support America.

The best way for West Germany to help the U.S. in Southeast Asia is to provide "humanitarian help" for the Vietnamese, he told his fellow party members.

Germans, the chancellor warned, must not set themselves up as "schoolmasters" to admonish other nations about their policies.

Kiesinger's warning came two days after West Berlin students and their supporters staged the biggest anti-American rally ever staged in the divided city. Over 10,000 people marched in Berlin on Sunday to condemn U.S. war activities in Vietnam.

The Berlin march was the latest in a growing number of anti-American incidents in this country. The press also has been turning increasingly against American policies in Vietnam.

Vice Chancellor Willy Brandt's Social Democratic Party partners with the CDU in Bonn's grand coalition, recently called on the U.S. to stop the bombing of North Vietnam.

Diplomatic observers noted that Kiesinger's statement contrasts sharply with the position of President de Gaulle of France, who strongly opposes the American engagement in Southeast Asia.

Central, Western Nebraska Report Snowfall Tuesday

Central and western Nebraska towns reported measurable snowfall Tuesday, but only snow flurries were reported in the eastern part of the state, weather bureau officials said.

More snow was predicted for eastern sections of the state on Wednesday.

Sidney received three inches of snow, Imperial and Valentine reported two inches and Scottsbluff, North Platte, Chadron and Grand Island each reported accumulations of about an inch.

Proper Maintenance Of Property Sought After Corps Center Closes

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Airport Authority Tuesday said it will seek action through the Nebraska Congressional delegation and Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) officials to see that there is a "proper standard of maintenance" of the closed-down Lincoln Job Corps Center property.

Acting chairman Joseph Hampton said he hopes for an "early reply" from the government concerning their housekeeping intentions after the training center is shut down March 15.

"While it doesn't present a legal or operating problem for the Airport Authority, the Job Corps was our biggest and one of our most important neighbors (at Lincoln Air Park), said the board's attorney Chauncey Barney.

Seek Assurance

He advised the board that it should seek assurance "that we don't have to live next door to an overgrown weed patch or a nest for vandals."

Hampton said the authority board will ask for clarification of:

—The period of time the government intends to exercise its control over the 500-acre Job Corps campus.

—"The complete intentions of the OEO on the level of vacancy"—whether or not the buildings and other property will be put into moth balls completely.

—Who will be responsible for maintenance and protection of the property.

— What government-controlled equipment will be left at the campus for maintenance work.

The board also said it will keep in mind the future possibility of substantially modifying the steam heat plant at the air park—the Job Corps was its biggest customer—to serve a lesser amount of tenants, or the possibility of furnishing a different type heating system.

An engineering analysis of the entire air park heating system might be necessary, the board said.

Other airport authority action:

—Documents pertaining to the final termination of the government lease of former air base property should be ready for authority review shortly after March 1, Barney said.

He reported he will discuss final disposition of the city-owned land with oficials of the General Services Administration and the Federal Aviation Agency in Kansas City, Mo., this week.

"The documents are of such a nature or form that I cannot recommend that the board approve them today, anyway," Barney said.

—The board approved a contract with Abel Construction Co. for constructing taxiway connections. The firm bid $64,912.60.

—The board approved a lease for Lincoln Air Park building No. 2762, for monthly rental of $210, to Western Paper Co.

Two County Road Additions Sought

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Some 40 persons appeared Tuesday at the public hearing on the $1,923,000 1968 county road program proposed by Lancaster County Engineer Hugh Dillon.

Requests for only two additions to the proposed program and one extension of a road already proposed were made to the Lancaster County Commissioners who must adopt a program by March 1.

A spokesman for a delegation from Hallam and the surrounding area requested the board's consideration in paving one mile of road which runs south of Hallam to the Gage County line.

A request was also made for grading and rocking eight-tenths of a mile on the Lancaster-Seward County lines to where they join the Saline County boundary.

Dillon said that the county's policy on such roads where there is no mail route is to have property owners along the road pay half the cost.

Roy Wallin of Denton told the board that this road is very narrow, and in bad weather it is necessary for residents in the area to go four miles out of the way.

A letter petitioning the county board to blacktop from Panama through Holland to connect with the blacktop coming south from Hickman, was read.

Dillon told the delegation present from the area that the 6.5 mile stretch is included in the 10-year program and two and one-fourth miles of it is proposed for 1968.

Dillon's proposed program calls for 8.95 miles of new paving, 11.5 miles of contracted road grading, 44.5 miles of road grading with county forces and 22 bridges.

Dillon, in outlining the program, stated that, before the board acts, he intends to make some minor changes in his proposals to tie in hard-surfaced access with the Branched Oak Recreation area near Raymond.

He said the changes he has in mind would result in an added cost to the county of $17,000 and a net gain of three miles of graded and paved road which normally costs about $60,000 or more a mile.

Viet Cong Fail To Emplace Antiaircraft Guns

(C) New York Times News Service

Saigon — A collection of rice paddies on the outskirts of Saigon was the scene of brisk fighting Tuesday when a Viet Cong attempt to place antiaircraft guns close to the Tan Son Nhut airport was thwarted, according to the South Vietnamese military command. The gun sightings came amid fresh concern over the possibility of a "second wave" ground assault upon the capital. (Another story on Page 1)

Pacification Set Back

Qui Nhon, South Vietnam — The impact of the first Viet Cong assault appeared to have taken its toll upon the pacification effort. There were indications in provinces stretching from the northern I Corps to the Mekong Delta that the drive to wrest the countryside from the Viet Cong had suffered a severe setback.

Johnson, Thant To Confer

United Nations, N.Y. — Secretary-General Thant will relay assurances to President Johnson from North Vietnam and the Soviet Union that comprehensive peace talks will begin about three weeks after an unconditional cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam, according to a qualified source at the U.N. Thant is scheduled to confer with the President Wednesday.

Pueblo Crew Is Threatened

World News

Moscow (UPI) — A spokesman for the North Korean Embassy said Tuesday crewmen of the captured USS Pueblo will be punished for their "crimes."

It was the first categorical threat of trials for the intelligence ship's surviving 82 crewmen captured by North Korean patrol boats Jan. 23.

One of the crewmen was reported to have been killed in the incident and three others were wounded.

U.S. Issues Warning

The threat made by Kan Cher Gyn, embassy counselor, came shortly before the United States issued its third warning in four days that punishment of the crewmen would be considered a "deliberate aggravation" of the crisis and could lead to serious consequences.

U.S. Rear Adm. John V. Smith and North Korean Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Kuk were reported to have met secretly Tuesday at the truce village of Panmunjom to discuss the Pueblo incident. It was their eighth session since the Pueblo was seized. Observers said it was presumed Smith relayed Washington's warning to Pak.

Counselor Kan told a news conference that the crewmen "having committed crimes in one country, will get the punishment provided by the law of this country (North Korea.)"

Americans Not Invited

"If the American imperialists dare to take reprisals, then war will break out immediately," Kan told the conference to which most Western newsmen, except Americans, were invited.

Kan also repeated the statement made by Premier Kim Il Sung that "if the United States wants total war, it will get it."

Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin said last week that Moscow had taken measures to keep the Pueblo incident from escalating into war.

Rights Debate Not Cut

Washington (AP)—The Senate refused by seven votes Tuesday to invoke a time limit on debate so that a civil rights bill could be brought to a vote.

Backers of the measure called the outcome "a significant victory," however, and said they are within shooting distance of their goal.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana moved for a test vote Wednesday on an open housing section, and announced he will try again next Monday to bring the basic bill to a showdown.

Two-Thirds Needed

In Tuesday's test, supporters of the bill were able to muster only 55 votes, seven short of the two-thirds majority needed to invoke cloture. Arrayed against the debate-closing rule were 37 senators, mainly Southern Democrats and Republican conservatives.

Nebraska Republican Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska both voted against limiting debate.

The setback for civil rights forces came in the face of an appeal by President Johnson for passage of the bill and a telegram from Gov. George Romney urging all Republican senators to vote for cloture.

Campaigner

Romney, campaigning for the GOP presidential nomination, said it is important to demonstrate "to those still suffering from social and racial injustice that needed changes can be made without lawlessness, violence and civil guerrilla warfare."

"I hope Dick Nixon will join me in urging Republican senators to take this needed action," Romney said.

The legislation, which has held the Senate in listless debate since Congress reconvened Jan. 15, is designed to protect Negroes and civil rights workers against racial violence.

Black Power Militant Jailed For Travel

New York (AP) — H. Rap Brown was arrested in a West Side Manhattan apartment Tuesday and accused of making an unauthorized weekend trip to California to promote his militant black power crusade. The journey could cost him $25,000 in forfeited bonds.

Brown, 24, is head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Federal courts in New Orleans, La., and Richmond, Va., have restricted his travel.

In early evening Brown was ordered released in the custody of his lawyer, William Kunstler, to arrange a return to New Orleans as a bail violator.

On or about Oct. 1, the woodchuck retries to his burrow and hibernates there until approximately April 1.

Head Of Florida Schools Given Emergency Powers In Walkout

Tallahassee, Fla. (AP)—The Florida board of education gave School Supt. Floyd Christian emergency powers Tuesday to combat a statewide teacher walkout which Christian called a "violation of everything we stand for in America."

Christian's office was unable Tuesday to say how many of the state's 67 county school systems were closed or how many teachers were off the job. An early Associated Press survey showed school systems in 21 counties closed entirely with others operating some schools.

More than a half million of the state's 1.3 million pupils were shut out of classes and 26,005 teachers of 60,844 were known to be off the job Monday. On Tuesday, some returned but others left.

Salaries OKd

The action of the board of education—a five-man panel of the seven-member state cabinet—freed Christian to approve salary payments with state funds for substitute teachers who don't have teacher licenses.

Some boards have brought in housewives, charm school teachers, engineers, civic club members and state legislators to man the blackboards. At Titusville High School, near Cape Kennedy, and at Mainland High in Daytona Beach, groups of pupils walked out of class in protest to their substitute teachers.

The board of education also approved shorter school days so teachers remaining on the job could teach double sessions.

Differences

Teachers spokesmen claimed the resignation movement was gaining momentum. But Gov. Claude Kirk, at a news conference in Los Angeles where he was on a speaking tour, said without elaboration, "By tomorrow night we will begin to get everyone back to work." Officials in Tallahassee said they wouldn't know the full effect of the walkout until Friday.

School boards in many counties asked local courts for orders to end walkouts.

Judge In Trial Of Ruby Dies

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Judge Joe Brown, who presided over the tempestuous trial of Jack Ruby in 1964, died at a hospital Tuesday following a heart attack.

He was stricken at his home earlier in the day.

Brown, now 60, was elected a district judge in 1957. He became a justice of peace in 1934.

The judge, a colorful man in Dallas legal circles, was married last year to Joy Carles, a widow. He and his first wife were divorced.

Ruby received the death sentence in Brown's court but the conviction was later reversed.

He was tried for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy. Ruby died of cancer Jan. 3, 1967.

Rev. Scott's Dismissal Criticized By Morrison

. . . Tiemann Blames School Problems On Ex-Governor

By United Press International

Republican Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann and former democratic Gov. Frank B. Morrison Tuesday exchanged critical statements over the firing of a Catholic chaplain at the state Boys Training School at Kearney.

Morrison, now an Omaha attorney, said the dismissal of the Rev. John F. Scott by the Tiemann administration constituted "curtailment of freedom of speech" and subjected the priest to "political pressure."

He asked Tiemann to reverse the decision and reinstate Father Scott immediately.

Tiemann quickly replied he would do no such thing. He said the decision to fire Father Scott was made after careful study by state corrections Director Maurice H. Sigler and "I'm backing him completely."

Tiemann said current problems at the Boys Training School "would never have occurred if Governor Morrison had been doing his job when he was in office. We're just trying to clean up his mess."

'Led To Uncertainty'

Tiemann said two training school superintendents were "either fired or quit" while Morrison was governor and that this led to uncertainty at the Kearney institution.

A controversy has swirled around conditions at the school since the resignation of Kevin Pesek as superintendent in December. The governor's advisory committee on institutions conducted an investigation last month.

Morrison said he has generally been sympathetic with Tiemann's approach to the problems of the school, "but as a citizen and former governor I cannot refrain from speaking out when a Catholic chaplain is fired by political authority without the consultation or concurrence of his bishop."

Morrison said he was "surprised at a policy statement which says controversy will not be tolerated at the school." He said controversy and free speech are the basis of sound education.

Meanwhile, school Supt. John S. McCarty asked Bishop John L. Paschang of the Grand Island Roman Catholic Diocese to replace Father Scott at Kearney.

Matter Under Study

Bishop Paschang said he had the matter under study. He said there were no present plans to reassign Father Scott, who is also a chaplain at Kearney State College.

Another chaplain who has been critical of Sigler's Kearney policies, the Rev. Ronald Hennies, who serves boys of the Episcopal faith, remained on the staff but he complained that his activities had been curtailed.

State Sen. Fred W. Carstens of Beatrice, chairman of the Legislature's Crime Study Committee, said his group plans a "detached look" at Kearney.

He said problems at the school may be due to a lack of organization. He said Sigler's announced plans to improve the institution "seem to be on the right track" but he did not condone the firing of the chaplain.

It was also reported Tuesday that Dr. Charles W. Landgraf, consulting psychiatrist at the school, had resigned for the second time in as many years.

Dr. Landgraf, who quit in 1966 when William Ettinger was fired as superintendent, said "the same old problem—too much control from the state in Lincoln—exists now as before."

Definite Word On Ashland's Future Asked

Washington (AP) — Rep. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb., has asked Army Engineers for a written positive statement whether Ashland, Neb. would be flooded by back up waters from a proposed Platte River dam.

"The situation is so bad that undertakers have advised people not to bury their dead in the cemetery until something is decided," Denney said in a letter to Col. William R. Needham.

The Nebraska Republican said an Ashland group has asked for a statement on the dam's status.

"Several businesses would like to expand, some are moving out and new business won't come in until there is a positive statement Ashland will not be covered by back up water," Denney wrote.

Needham told a reporter he would have to ask the Corps of Engineer's district office in Omaha if it is considering plans for the dam and it could take a while before there is something definite to report, Needham said.

"However, such a dam still would need authorization by Congress," he added.

the Republican nomination for Congress in the Third District.

Green said he expects to oppose incumbent Dave Martin of Kearney who is expected to seek re-election but has not yet completed his filing and Green called on Martin for a stand on major issues.

Green, who spent three months in Southeast Asia in 1966 on a Fulbright fellowship, declared the United States must set forth some strict guidelines in its policies for Southeast Asia if the war in Vietnam is to be ended. He called for land reform and cutting off foreign aid to Communist nations. He also said he believes the harbor at Haphong should be mined to halt trade with North Vietnam.

Olson Offers Lowest Bid At Hastings

. . . On New Hospital

Hastings (AP) — Olson Construction Co. of Lincoln submitted an apparent low bid of $4,869,888 Tuesday for construction of the new Mary Lanning Memorial Hospital building.

Six Submit Bids

The bid was one of six submitted for the 140-bed structure, which will more than double the hospital's patient capacity.

Another Lincoln firm, Kingery Construction Co., offered the second apparently low bid, $4,885,858. The next apparent low bidder was Korshoj Construction Co. of Blair, $4,992,411.

Hospital board members said many things would have to be taken into consideration before a decision was reached on awarding a contract.

The new structure will increase the hospital from 53,000 square feet to 190,000.

In addition to three patient floors of 25,000 square feet each, the new unit will include surgical and X-ray facilities, laboratories, admitting and administration areas and a reception room.

Gamble-Skogmo Makes Offer For J. M. McDonald Stock

Minneapolis, Minn. (AP) — Gamble-Skogmo Inc., Minneapolis based merchandising organization, announced Tuesday that an offer is being made to purchase for cash 100,000 shares of common stock of J. M. McDonald Co. of Hastings, Neb.

The company said it is offering $19 per share and that the offer will terminate at 5 p.m. March 5. The offer, however, may be extended for a period of up to 30 days, the company added.

"If less than 100,000 shares are tendered within the time limit," a company statement said, "Gamble-Skogmo may purchase all or none of the shares tendered. If more than the 100,000 shares are tendered, it may purchase all shares selected on a pro rated basis."

The company said it will pay a fee of 40 cents a share "for each share purchased pursuant to the offer to dealers who are members of the national association of security dealers or to brokers, who are responsible for securing the tenders."

Terms and conditions are covered in a letter of offer placed with the depository bank, Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis, the company said.

YMCA Drive Over Half-Way Toward Goals

Both the Central and Southeast branches of the Lincoln YMCA reported Tuesday that they are over the half-way mark toward the goals in the 1968 membership drive.

Henry Walling, membership secretary for the YMCA, said that the Central YMCA had a total of 698 new members and total funds of $25,311, or 60.2% of its goal.

Southeast Branch YMCA reported 267 new members to date with funds of $3,125, or 52% of its goal.

Report meetings will be held again Friday.

Lincoln Man Hurt In Gun Accident

Falls City (UPI) — Don Smith, 33, Lincoln, is in Community Hospital with a severe leg wound received in a shotgun accident at the home of his mother, Mrs. Adeline Smith, in Salem.

Smith's son, Clyde, 12, pulled the trigger on a .410 gauge shotgun, not knowing the gun was loaded. Betty Smith 14, who lives with her grandmother, Mrs. Adeline Smith, also was hit by pellets but was dismissed from the hospital after treatment.

Extended Forecasts

NEBRASKA: Temperatures for the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, will average near normal in the central and 2 to 5 degrees below normal in the east with minor day to day changes. Normal highs are in the middle 30s in the northeast to the middle 40s in the southwest. Normal lows are in the middle teens in the north to near 20 in the south. Precipitation will average around one-tenth inch in the west to one-quarter inch in the east, occuring as rain or snow early in the period and again near the end.

KANSAS: For the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, temperatures will average 2 to 5 degrees below normal with minor day to day changes. Normal highs are in the middle 40s in the north to around 50 in the south. Normal lows are in the upper teens in the northwest to near 30 in the southeast. Precipitation will average around one-tenth inch in the west to one-quarter to one-half inch in the east, occuring as rain or snow early in the period and again near the end.

Summary of Conditions

The latest surface map shows a semi-stationary front extending from north central Wyoming to northeastern Colorado, near Nebraska panhandle to southwestern Kansas through east central Oklahoma and eastward. A front out west will move only slightly more westward and a front to the south portion of the same front will extend into Texas Wednesday. A high centered just north of North Dakota will reach western Iowa by noon Wednesday.

As the high center and ridge from center move eastward Wednesday, there will be some chance of a few snow flurries in eastern Nebraska. Variably to considerably cloudy skies are expected Wednesday with continued cold temperatures. Partly cloudy skies are expected Wednesday night and Thursday with locally warmer temperatures Wednesday night and then warmer most sections Thursday. In the western half of Nebraska, temperatures will be locally colder due to clearing skies and many snow-covered areas.

BARR CRITICAL OF AG COMPLIANCE RULE

Washington (UPI)—Guy J. Barr, York, Neb., told his congressional delegation Tuesday farmers "can't live with" the Agriculture Department's gross compliance requirement.

Under the requirement, all land farmed by a tenant farmer must be enrolled under the government's production programs or all must be outside, regardless of ownership, "and it's a hopeless situation," he said.

He urged the congressmen and senators to call for a change in the regulation, and was scheduled to discuss the matter with Ray Fitzgerald, deputy administrator for state and county operations, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Barr said he leases 2,000 acres from 10 landlords. One of these, owner of 80 acres, was not a participant in the feed grain program, and now the department is demanding the return of $20,000 paid out under the program, he said.

Barr said the regulation is "driving people out of the program."

Nebraskans Oppose Attempt To Halt Civil Rights Debate

Washington (UPI) — Sens. Carl T. Curtis and Roman L. Hruska, Nebraska Republicans, Tuesday opposed an attempt to shut off the civil rights debate which has been under way since Congress met Jan. 15.

Hruska cancelled a speech which he had been scheduled to deliver before the Burt County Farm Bureau at Tekamah, Neb., Tuesday night so he could vote against the cloture motion.

In announcing his intention to the weekly breakfast sponsored by the Nebraska congressional delegation for visitors from home, Hruska said he has voted for every civil rights bill before Congress since the first post-reconstruction measure of 1957.

But the pending open housing amendment was "forced through" after the bill was reported to the Senate by the judiciary committee, and was not sufficiently reviewed, he said.

"It would create much mischief," he predicted.

Curtis said he agreed with Hruska's views which he noted are the same as those of Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen. Both men "have carried the work load of all the civil rights legislation that has been enacted," Curtis said.

Arbor Day Event Shifted To May 5

Nebraska City (AP) — Chairman Mort Porter of the Arbor Day observance here, said the date will be observed May 5 this year. Arbor Day falls on April 22.

Porter said the later date will facilitate invitation of a speaker.

Federal Spending Hit $372,277,366 For 2nd District

Washington (UPI)—Twenty-six federal agencies and departments reported expenditures of $372,277,366 in the four counties of Nebraska's Second Congressional District during the past fiscal year, Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., said.

He said a recent report also showed that the district received approximately 30% of all federal expenditures for the state.

Cunningham said he is frequently asked about federal expenditures in Nebraska and particularly in the Second District which he represents.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare ranked second in total spending in the district with $68,758,482.

Douglas, $237,943,479; Cass, $11,872,154; Washington, $13,456,071; and Sarpy, $109,005,662.

One of Kentucky's most famous characters is the Sunny Brook Guardian. Way back in 1891, he introduced new high standards for making Bourbon. Insisted on using costlier small grains. A very special yeast strain. And then aging in hand-made barrels. He's never changed. And neither has our quality. It's the most carefully guarded taste in Bourbon.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Whatever restraints have been invoked against police, prosecuting attorneys and courts by the U.S. Supreme Court have been compensated for by adoption of the so-called Reardon report by the American Bar Association.

This report, wherever its provisions are adhered to, will further close the society in which we live. The guidelines established by the ABA action strictly limit the news that can be released by police and prosecutors in regard to those arrested for violation of the law.

The attitude of the American people on this subject is largely unknown but it should be hostile. Throughout the history of the world, societies have come to fear from time to time the heavy-handed practices of police organizations from which there is no or limited recourse.

Perhaps the average citizen is not aware of what can happen under such circumstances. It is a simple matter and a fairly common one for people to spend a night in jail or be considerably disturbed by the action of police in an arbitrary fashion.

Police harassment can be carried on without any grounds whatsoever. You can imagine the extremes to which police and prosecutors could go if given some cause to do so.

These comments are not aimed particularly at Lincoln, although they do apply here in broad principle if not as a result of actual practice. Throughout police and prosecution work, the desire for a conviction is often greater than the desire for justice.

And the less the public knows about the operations of police and prosecutors, the less it is capable of judging such operations. Operating in a near vacuum of public information, police and prosecutors can put out what they want and remain silent about those things that might embarrass or expose them.

The ABA curtailment of news deprives defendants of the protection of the press and deprives the people of their right to know what is going on. Greatly weakened is the protection of the press against abuse and dishonesty on the part of police and prosecutors.

And all of this is the product of an effort to assure a free trial by preventing pre-trial prejudice that is not even proven to exist. For a free trial, the public must now rely totally upon the courts, the police and the prosecution.

It is safe to assume that there are jurisdictions where this action of the ABA will be used in the extreme. There will be circumstances in which the ABA guidelines will be used to cover up inept police work and other matters of adverse effect upon the public interest.

The ABA action greatly curtails or reduces the position of the press as another public protector through implementation of the principle of the public's right to know. And the action is an infringement upon the constitutional guarantee of a free press.

Lincoln and Nebraska have been relatively free of conflicts between the public, press, police, prosecutors and the courts. At the same time, the cooperation that has existed is not known ever to have produced an unfair trial.

It is unfortunate that the bar has taken the position it has in this matter. Now, where conflicts do not exist, they are likely to develop and where they do exist, they are likely to be heightened.

In the end, the action of the ABA is likely to produce more problems than it corrects. The association presumably has acted in good faith and the press, also in good faith, will defend the position it feels it cannot abandon.

It is unfortunate the American Bar Association has been unable to provide a solution where one is needed without destroying certain fundamental rights and without assuming the role of dictator.

Hitting Local Government

Local governments took it on the chin from Clayton Yeutter, administrative assistant to the governor. Yeutter maintained that local governments were inefficient and lack the financial capacity to help themselves.

There is something to what he says. Simply by way of organization, all governments should seek to make better use of public programs and facilities. Lincoln and Lancaster County, for instance, have done this in a number of areas, including park development and the construction of a new joint office building.

It may never come to pass, but Omaha and Lincoln could cooperate in the construction of new commercial aviation facilities.

All cities should be alert to possibilities of cooperation with others to avoid duplication and needless competition.

But local governments face a financial problem that is not entirely their own doing. When cities fail to provide needed public services, it is often because the electorate has so dictated. That can be said of just about any level of government.

By failing to support local government, citizens are encouraging the drift toward more control at higher levels such as the state and federal. If people want to retain strength in local government, they are going to have to be responsible in the support of that government and not fight it at each and every opportunity.

Setback For Mental Care

Last spring a Danish mental health expert, Niels Erik Bank-Mikkelsen, toured a California institution for the mentally retarded.

"I could not believe my eyes," he said.

For, in this enlightened age, he found the California institution a turn-of-the-century snakepit. "In our country we would not be allowed to treat cattle like that. No politician in Denmark could take responsibility for such conditions and survive," he said. He reported that in one ward he found 10 naked women patients lying on a concrete floor in their own urine. In another, he found 94 male patients crowded into a space adequate for only a quarter of that number.

Conditions such as these are common in California mental institutions, according to the Los Angeles Times magazine.

Why? Because Gov. Ronald Reagan slashed a total of $11.5 million from the appropriation for mental hygiene. "Thus," says the magazine, "the responsibility for underfinanced facilities becomes entirely his."

In a well-documented, thoroughly shocking report, the magazine paints a grim picture of California mental health care. Hospitals operating at 38 per cent of the acceptable level, patients treated like animals, underpaid doctors, nurses and attendants, doctors begging for help from private sources. It adds up to an indictment of Reagan and his philosophy of budget cutbacks.

There can be no excuse, in the 20th Century, for mere warehousing of mental patients. Yet that is the situation in California.

For a savings of $11.5 million, Reagan has plunged his state's mental care program back to Medieval times.

MARQUIS CHILDS

First Primary Up For Grabs

MANCHESTER, N.H. — While New Hampshire's state sweepstakes has been less than a success as a money raiser, the primary contest is making up for it. With the candidates on the mark for the last lap, money is being thrown around as though it had just been invented.

The primary does in point of fact resemble a lottery that often seems just about as relevant to the issues of the day. Perhaps the analogy is a great big slot machine, with the managers for the several candidates stuffing in hundreds of thousands of dollars in the wild hope of hitting the jack pot. When the lever is pulled on March 12 and all the symbols stop whirring around, the result will have decided something as among five or six men but very little about what the voters feel on the problems confronting a troubled nation.

For two of the candidates, the power of political organization is difficult if not impossible to break through. In the Republican primary Governor Romney of Michigan is making a valiant effort to overcome the lead of the front runner, Richard M. Nixon. He is talking about the issues, and above all about Vietnam, with vigor and forthrightness.

In the Democratic primary Sen. Eugene McCarthy is taking his case against the Johnson administration to the people of New Hampshire at the crossroads, factory workbenches, town halls and colleges and wherever a few are gathered together. From the Democratic governor on down through the whole organization there is a determined effort to blank him out. It is so determined, as evidenced by the signed and numbered pledge cards Democrats are asked to sign, that it could backfire.

Nixon's own view of the outcome at this stage is interesting.

He believes he will take 40 per cent of the vote and the entire slate of delegates. In 1964 Henry Cabot Lodge got 36 per cent and he was 10,000 miles away in Saigon as ambassador to South Vietnam. Confident that he has most of the Republican organization with him, Nixon is nevertheless planning to spend almost as much time in the state as Romney.

On the Nixon score card Romney is given 30 per cent of the total vote. This will be a sufficient showing to persuade him to go on to the Wisconsin primary. The remaining 30 per cent will be divided between Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California as write-ins, with a scattering of votes for marginal candidates. It is entirely possible that Nixon, with his sharp insight into the political realities, is deliberately over-estimating the Romney vote so that the Nixon total will look even more impressive when the results are in.

Romney's problem is establishing a national identity. As a newcomer to the national scene — the governor of a state with its own particular background —when he talks about Vietnam and the balance of payments, he must overcome the suspicion of the voter that he is an interloper merely exploiting the issues for his own advancement. Nixon, who has moved in the presidential ambience since he became Dwight Eisenhower's vice president, can resort to broad generalities, saving his fire, so confident is he of the nomination, for the campaign in the fall.

But Romney has seriously and consistently tried to discuss the issues.

Unable to engage his opponent in debate, Romney has in recent days openly assailed him. He called him a "me, too" candidate, his stand on Vietnam merely a blurred carbon copy of the position of the Johnson Administration. The Republican hierarchy will deeply resent these harsh words and particularly when — and if — with Nixon as the nominee the Democrats pick them up. Why take a blurred carbon copy? Why not take the original?

McCarthy has maintained a more philosophic attitude. And yet even this calm and self-contained philosopher can hit hard. He characterized a Johnson-Nixon race the other evening as a contest between the vulgar and the obscene. Later he explained that while the President sought to read dissidents out of the human race as "moral isolationists," Nixon, if he ran true to past form, would in the crunch use the innuendo of traitor on opponents of the Vietnam war which, in the McCarthy view, would be a political obscenity.

Not only money but extraordinary energy and effort are going into this contest in one of the smallest and most typical of the 50 states.

Tobacco Warning

Lincoln, Neb.

After the appearance of not one but two poor editorials concerning anti-smoking posters on Post Office trucks, there is room for some straight talk on the matter. The poster reads: "100,000 Doctors Have Quit Smoking (Maybe They Know Something You Don't)". Star editorials argue that the poster is mere propaganda, humorous, but still "tripe."

Let's be real. This is one part of HEW's valid effort to educate the general public (and journalists) about the simple fact that smoking increases one's chance of dying from lung cancer, heart disease and emphysema. The surgeon general's report on smoking and health contains more evidence for these points than editorial writers probably care to read. In contrast, arguing about the exact number of doctors isn't worth a silly millimeter.

The government, in providing for the common welfare, has a minimal responsibility to at least warn the public about substances proven dangerous to health — even if it makes Tobaccoland gasp.

Farm Meeting

Guide Rock, Neb.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 farmers dropped into Des Moines, Iowa, on Thursday and Friday for the 30th annual meeting of the National Farm Institute. The NFI planners would have been happy to have had 700 participants, the most who had ever shown up in the past 29 years.

Three of the Big Four in agriculture performed as expected. We expected Oren Lee Staley to say: "Collective bargaining in American agriculture means producers bargaining together and selling together. No bargaining really takes place until the owner of a product puts a price tag on his product." For his efforts, the leader of the N.F.O. got the only standing ovation of the two-day session with the exception of the secretary of agriculture, Orville L. Freeman.

We expected Tony Dechant, president of the National Farmers Union to say: "Agriculture has been and still is the only segment of American business still forced to sell its products at wholesale prices set by somebody else. And to buy its production supplies at retail prices, also set by somebody else."

Least surprising of all was President of the American Farm Bureau Charles Shuman's statement. "Farmers are fed up with the manipulation of government stocks of farm products to 'protect consumers' and they will not welcome similar price meddling by politicians under the guise of building greater bargaining power."

Harry L. Graham, legislative assistant to the master of the National Grange, provided the unexpected. He proved there was still spark in the old order of the Grange.

Graham pointed out that government has a place in the solution of agricultural problems. He condemned those who act as if "our government is some kind of an alien entity . . . If you want anarchy, you just follow Stokely Carmichael in Civil Rights and Charlie Shuman in his farm program." The Midwest has the habit of sending people to Washington who vote for the processor rather than the farmer, he said. "When you vote for your friends and not your enemies, you'll have farm legislation."

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman stated the government position. "What matters is a program to give farmers more control than they now enjoy over prices they receive and the conditions under which they sell."

We left with the same mixture of feeling with which we arrived. The Farmers Union, the National Farmers Organization, the Grange, and the secretary of agriculture will continue to work, though not always successfully, for the farmer, while the Farm Bureau beats its voo-doo drums, accompanied by the minstrel songs of its processor friends.

New Hampshire Winter Is Rough On Candidates

NEW YORK—In the name of humanity, New Hampshire should be forced to hold its primary in June or July, after the ice has broken up in the Merrimack.

Or else the nation's first presidential primary should be held in Arizona or Florida where the livin' is easier.

I have been watching with increasing horror the suicidal campaign antics of candidates plugging for votes in New Hampshire's arctic wastes. They may endure politically. But can they survive physically?

The television screen nightly brings into the living rooms of America such harrowing scenes as Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in the merciless clutch of ice skates, engaged in a game of hockey with men half his age and many times his skill.

The Minnesota senator's campaign has been continuously described as "low-keyed." It also aptly describes his hockey game, which he plays from a sitting position when not from a stomach stance.

It is said that George Romney is now a stronger candidate — in the N.H. primary race than when he entered it. If he weren't, he'd be dead!

The sight of Governor Romney in track gear jogging along at dawn with a tough New Hampshire pre-breakfast jog club only underscores the fearful price candidates are willing to pay for a shot at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Did the governor really garner the ski vote when he strapped on skis and surveyed a New Hampshire slope? Or was disaster averted when the quick-witted Mrs. Romney peremptorily ordered her husband to cut the caper and abandon the snow runners?

But the next evening Mr. Romney turned up on the home screen, mixing it up with a youthful basketball team that was trying to keep out of his way.

Next week, perish forbid, skydiving!

Richard Nixon may have come late to the New Hampshire scene, but he quickly got into the act. The teevee screen showed the thinking man's Republican candidate, sensibly wrapped in a heavy overcoat, exiting from his nice, warm New Hampshire hotel into the frigid sunrise.

The former vice-president had scracely set foot on the sidewalk when he encountered a hardy New England type strolling the street in a Brooks Brothers three-button suit.

Quick as a flash Mr. Nixon shucked his overcoat, the better to shake hands — on an equal clothing basis — with the native son. Instantly, I tuned out and turned off. I couldn't bear to watch the shivering candidate courting both votes and pneumonia under the impression that he was one-upping the local weather.

How game should a candidate be? How much of a sport?

Transportation Secretary Boyd Defends Poor Communities In Freeway Dispute

WASHINGTON — Military problems in the Far East have obscured one of the most significant battles here at home. It's the battle of a Florida Cracker, Alan S. Boyd, now secretary of transportation, to protect Negro and poor white communities against one of the most powerful lobbies in the nation—the freeway lobby.

No one ever suspected, when Alan Boyd was first recommended by his old University of Florida friend, Sen. George Smathers, that Boyd would turn out to be a sociologist and an opponent of lobbyists. But he has. The freeway lobby hates him, secretly is working to undermine him. It claims he must go.

What Secretary Boyd has done to arouse the lobby's wrath is to maintain that freeways are not the sole solution of the transportation problem. Mass transit, subways, high-speed trains, even monorails, must be considered.

Secretary Boyd also argues that Negro communities are not the only ones to be relocated to make room for suburban commuter freeways. Wealthier communities should have to move, too. Specifically he has held up the North-Central Freeway in Washington because it was shifted over from a high-bracket residential community to a low-bracket area, because the white residents pack more political punch than Negroes do.

This caused panic and pandemonium among what is called the "Road Gang." This is the group of lobbyists, consultants, engineers, trade association officials which represents the cement, tire, gasoline, and automobile industries, plus heavy construction, which have made millions from the National Highway Act by which the federal government pays 90 per cent of the highway bill, the states 10 per cent.

Linked with the North-Central Freeway is also the Three Sisters Bridge across the Potomac, to carry commuters into Virginia. Secretary Boyd has held this up, because, he argues, the whole transportation plan for the District of Columbia must be considered as a package and the Three Sisters Bridge would funnel enough traffic into Washington to require the building of more freeways.

In the middle of this dispute is the new Negro mayor of Washington, Walter Washington, the first mayor this city has had in 93 years and one of the few Negroes holding such office in any big American city. Secretary Boyd has said he'll let him make the decision. This puts the first Negro mayor of the nation's capital in the position of either bowing to white wealth and the powerful highway lobby or siding with the poor members of his own race.

Lined up against the Negro poor and Secretary Boyd are the following:

Assistant Mayor Tom Fletcher, who comes from San Diego where freeways are king.

Rep. George Fallon, D., of Baltimore, chairman of the House Public Works Committee and a potent friend of the highway lobby. Fallon has just returned from a junket to Puerto Rico, where he spent the Christmas holidays with a public works subcommittee. Refreshed and tanned, courtesy of the taxpayers, he's ready to fight the battle of the lobby.

Rep. John C. Kluczynski D., of Chicago, a Polish restaurant operator and caterer, who has opposed Lady Bird's beautification program and has been the friend of billboards along new highways. Kluczynski is likewise a pal of the freeway lobby.

Rep. William Cramer, R-Fla., another enemy of Lady Bird's beautification program and a friend of billboards. In his West Florida district, Cramer operates a laundry, partly owned by his campaign manager, Jack Insco, who in turn gets a salary of $15,063.48 from the U.S. taxpayers courtesy of being on Cramer's congressional payroll. Simultaneously the laundry has an $80,000 contract to wash the linen for MacDill Air Force Base in Florida.

Finally, and perhaps most important of all, is Rep. William H. Natcher, Kentucky Democrat, and chairman of the appropriations subeommittee for the District of Columbia. Natcher illustrates the inequity of one-man committee rule by threatening to cut off funds for Washington's new subway if Secretary Boyd continues to block money for D.C. freeways.

This is how powerful the freeway lobby is. How much money its members contribute to these congressmen's campaign funds is not always recorded. It could run into many figures.

The U.S. Court of Appeals has now held against the lobby, at least to the extent of instructing Mayor Washington to hold extensive hearings on the traffic problems of the nation's capital.

Nebraska Primary Seen As One-Man Contest

By WARREN WEAVER JR.

Omaha—Nebraska's first free-for-all presidential primary, once regarded as a potentially significant third round in the 1968 competition, looks today like a one-man contest.

Richard M. Nixon is so far ahead of his Republican rivals that both his supporters and those working for Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California are relatively inactive in preparing for the May 14 election.

The Nixon forces, confident that they can win 60% of the vote in a four-man race, have relatively little need for work. The others seem to concede that work would do them little good.

The only signs of real competitive activity, on behalf of Reagan, are far below the political surface and tentative at that. No Reagan effort will probably develop here, party leaders agree, unless Nixon stumbles in the New Hampshire or Wisconsin primaries.

Reagan Poll

Within the past two weeks, Reagan operatives have been detected taking a Nebraska poll, testing the governor's potential strength in the state. Such information could only be valuable in deciding whether to activate a primary campaign.

Republicans of all stripes are convinced, however, that if Nixon holds his lead in the New Hampshire primary and goes on to win in Wisconsin, he will be virtually unchallenged in Nebraska.

On the Republican ballot, along with Nixon, Reagan and Romney will be Harold E. Stassen, who is regarded as no threat to anyone. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefelier of New York was put on the ballot by the secretary of state but has withdrawn his name.

Romney insisted, on a recent visit, that he was not writing Nebraska off, but the evidence is otherwise.

Forgotten Name

His campaign chairman, an Omaha city councilman, has made so little stir that neither Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann nor the chief Nixon agent, George Cook, could remember his name.

Republican leaders predicted that Reagan would probably draw as many votes on May 14 as Romney. Nebraska Republicans admit freely to being a considerative lot.

The modest, confident Nixon campaign operation anticipates that its candidate will only make two visits to the state, of perhaps two days each. One will come after the Wisconsin primary in April and the second will be in May.

Nixon's support is formidable by almost any standards. With 93 counties in the state, he has the formal endorsement of between 70 and 80 Republican county chairmen.

Demo Party's Opposition To Tiemann Hit By NCD

Nebraska Concerned Democrats Tuesday said the state's Democratic Party will "continue to be a weak and ineffective factor in Nebraska politics" if it bases its appeal on "blind opposition" to Republican Gov. Norbert Tiemann.

An NCD newsletter pointed to criticism of Tiemann's tax and spending program voiced by Democratic State Chairman John Mitchell on a televised interview program.

"Mr. Mitchell forgets that Nebraska's present tax programs are essentially those advocated by the 1966 platform of the Nebraska Democratic Party," NCD stated.

"The Democratic platform in 1966 specifically called for, and Democratic candidates campaigned vigorously on behalf of, state aid to primary and secondary education, and expansion of higher educational facilities, as well as salary increases to teachers at all levels.

"And it is to this that the increases in the state budget have gone."

If the Democratic Party "adopts the position of its chairman," NCD said, it will be weak and ineffective.

"Growth of the Democratic Party will come from support of forward-looking programs, such as those in the 1966 platform, and not from blind opposition to anything done by the Republican governor."

NCD, whose steering committee is headed by Mike Oldfather of Lincoln, supports Sen. Eugene McCarthy's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

University Students for McCarthy will be assisted in McCarthy's Nebraska primary campaign by allied student groups in Missouri and Iowa, the newsletter said.

Both groups have expressed interest in helping the McCarthy drive in Nebraska "since they do not have (presidential) primaries in their own states," NCD reported.

Lincoln-CPPD Tie Urging Reaffirmed

. . . BY CONSULTANTS

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Engineering consultants Tuesday reaffirmed their recommendation that Lincoln forego construction of its own base-load generating plant to meet future electrical power needs and instead participate with Consumers Public Power District in a nuclear power plant at Brownville.

"A nuclear plant as a base load plant is the best and most economical method to generate power over the long run," Robert Heidenreich, vice president of Gibbs, Hill, Durham and Richardson told the City Council and the City Power Advisory Board.

The Omaha consulting firm was retained by the city to study future power sources for Lincoln and in November recommended that Lincoln finance 12½% of the 800 megawatt nuclear facility at Brownville and thus share in the same proportion in the electrical output of the plant, plus constructing peak shaving generating units to augment future power supplies.

Dawson Differed

Subsequent to the report's release, bond attorney John Dawson of New York advised the city it should consider getting into the business of generating most of its power requirement needs past 1972.

Council and power advisory board members met with the consultants to discuss the two opinions and to update themselves on negotiations between the city and Consumers over the proposed contract for Brownville power.

Noting that although a city-owned generating plant was among the alternates recommended for a future power source, Heidenreich said, "We don't feel it is the best thing for Lincoln as far as economics are concerned."

$60 Million

To build such a facility, he said, would cost the city $60 million and would throw the city "in a big way into the power business."

The consultants' pointed out also that:

—The city would be paying for a set amount of power, through a rate schedule, not unlike the present firm power purchase contract but at a lower cost and with no capital investment.

—The city's participation, as well as Iowa Power and Light Company's entrance into the Brownville picture will allow Consumers to build a large nuclear generating plant to produce low cost power.

Can Be Sold

—If the city cannot use the 12½% of the output of the Brownville plant, the excess can be sold elsewhere through participation in regional power pools.

"To stay in the economic picture, cities are going to end up buying power from these giant (nuclear) plants rather than generating it yourselves—it is to your advantage to get in when you can buy this low cost energy," said Charles Durham, president of the consulting firm.

"Sure, you can go into the generating business, but essentially, it boils down to whether you can operate a power plant as efficiently as the experts."

Compare Costs

It was emphasized that in comparing costs for generating and delivering energy, it will cost 5.92 mills per kilowatt hour for the Consumers participation plan and 6.22 mills under the plan considering the construction of a base load, fossil fuel generating unit with peak shaving units.

Power board member Burnham Yates, noting that "the reason for taking over the Consumers operation in Lincoln was to get control over our own rates" — and thus bringing up the possibility of reducing rates to the buyer—commented that technology has advanced to the state where municipal systems who choose to compete with power companies providing nuclear generated power, "might be priced out of the market."

Total Assets At Nebraska Surety Reach New Highs

Premium writings and total assets at Nebraska Surety Co. hit new highs in 1967, according to a report by President Fred Stiner at the annual meeting of stockholders.

He said that 1967 had been the best year of the six the company has been in operation.

Premium writings rose to $227,660, as compared with $152,843 in 1966. Total assets of the company stood at $331,903 at the end of 1967, up from $275,185 for the previous year.

Re-elected to the board of directors were John R. Bixby, A. F. Blackburn Jr., Steve Davis, Maynard M. Grosshans, John L. Hoppe, T. D. Lovercheck, Lloyd J. Marti, John P. McKnight, M. D. Patton and Stiner.

Police-Lawyer Relationships Good—Carroll

Lincoln Police Chief Joseph T. Carroll, in response to a suit filed against him by Lincoln attorney Merril Reller, Tuesday said his department enjoys good relations with most attorneys.

The suit, filed Monday in Lancaster District Court, asks the court to enjoin Carroll from engaging in alleged illegal practices set forth in the petition and from denying or infringing upon the constitutional rights of persons in custody.

"We enjoy the most cordial relationship with the vast majority of attorneys whom we treat as fellow human beings," said Carroll.

"However," he added, "I think Mr. Reller is displeased because we do not display more reverence toward him."

New Manager Of Lincoln VA Is Announced

Washington (AP)—Caldwell W. Nixon has been named manager of the regional office of the Veterans Administration in Lincoln, Neb.

W. J. Driver, VA administrator, said Nixon, assistant manager of the Roanoke, Va., regional VA d office, will succeed Charles St. J. Chubb in about 30 days.

Chubb has been reassigned as assistant manager to the Cleveland, Ohio, office, Driver said.

Nixon started his VA career in 1946 at the Winston-Salem, N.C., office. He served in regional offices in Baltimore and Detroit until moving to Roanoke in 1961.

Katmandu, Nepal (AP)—This Himalayan kingdom has 3,100 people over 100 years old in a population of 9.4 million, says an official report.

Lincoln Native R. C. Sloan, Dallas, Dies Tuesday At 33

Richard C. Sloan of Dallas, Tex., a Lincoln native and vice president and creative director of Wyatt, Dunagan and Williams Advertising Agency in Dallas, died Tuesday at the age of 33.

Services will be held Thursday in Dallas with graveside services set for 3:30 p.m. Friday at Lincoln Memorial Park cemetery.

Mr. Sloan received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Nebraska where he was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity and Delta Phi Delta, national art honorary.

His paintings have been in expositions throughout the country, including Joslyn Art Museum in Omaha and the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts. In 1965, the Graduate Research Center of Dallas hosted a one-man show of his works.

His art awards include a gold medal from the Denver Art Directors Show, a silver medal and distinctive merit award from the Dallas-Fort Worth Art Directors Club Show and best-of-category award for shows in Denver and Wichita.

Mr. Sloan also was a past president and director of the North Texas Nebraska Alumni Association, current director of the North-Park Fine Arts Festival and a member of the PTA.

He is survived by his wife, Mimi (Gordon); a son, Craig, at home; two daughters, Angela and Leslie, both at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sloan of Lincoln; a brother, Thomas, Princeton, N.J., and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Christenson of Torrance, Calif.

DR. NORMAN CARLSON

LCC Elects Dr. Carlson

Dr. Norman Carlson was elected president of the Country Club of Lincoln Tuesday at the first meeting of the newly elected board of directors.

Other officers elected were Dr. Robert Stein, vice president; A. C. Glandt, treasurer, and Charles Wright, secretary.

Group To Discuss Corps Closing

A special committee formed by Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf will meet for the first time Wednesday to discuss problems related to the closing of the Lincoln Job Corps Center.

The committee is expected first to center its efforts on obtaining favorable maintenance and protection agreements during the period the federal Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) retains control of the 500-acre campus.

Although the government contract with Northern Systems Co., operator of the Lincoln training center, has been cancelled and the center will be shut down by March 15, OEO has announced it will keep the Lincoln property in "mothball status" until June 30, 1969, for other possible federal use.

Mayor Schwartzkopf, who will act as chairman of the group to be called the Mayor's Development Committee, said the committee will also seek new uses for the area when the city-owned property is returned to local control.

Other members appointed by the mayor: Walter Nolte, banker, Chauncey Barney, attorney, John Prasch, Lincoln superintendent of schools, Ed Schwartzkopf, University of Nebraska regent, Wendell Olson, research analyst with the State Labor Department and City Councilman Bill Davidson.

J. O. Grantham, vice president of Northern Systems Co., will assist the committee in an advisory capacity.

The committee membership might be enlarged at a later date, the mayor said.

Wildlife Refuge Land Purchased

Falls City (UPI) — The State Game Commission has purchased the right-of-way of the abandoned Rock Island Railroad line in Richardson, Gage and Pawnee Counties to be used as a wildlife refuge.

Over 600 acres are involved, more than 400 acres of it in Pawnee County. Approximately 30 acres are in Richardson County and the remainder, in Gage County.

Going to move soon? Be sure to notify the Circulation Department, giving both your old and new address.

Pershing College Enrollment 527

Beatrice (UPI) — Dr. Richard Brengle, president of Pershing College here, announced Tuesday that 527 students have registered for the spring trimester at the college.

There were 538 students enrolled for the last trimester.

The spring trimester began Feb. 17 and runs through May 22.

Relief for night-backache lets you sleep again

Sometimes backache comes like a thief in the night, "steals" away your sleep, then robs you of energy all the next day. When the cause is overexertion or everyday stress and strain, that's the time to try Doan's Pills for comforting relief. Doan's pain-relieving action often brings welcome relief.

If this nagging night backache, with restless, sleepless nights, is wearing you out, making you feel miserable and irritable, don't wait, try Doan's Pills — an analgesic, a pain-reliever. Doan's pain-relieving action on nagging backache—night backache—is often the answer. Get Doan's Pills — not a habit-forming drug but a well-known standard remedy used successfully by millions for over 70 years. See if they don't bring you the same welcome relief. For convenience, always buy Doan's large size. Doan's

Felsch To Head Vision 17; Mobile Office Planned

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Falls City — A professional city manager, George Felsch, was revealed here Tuesday night as the new executive for Vision 17, Inc.

The announcement was made as some 20 directors convened for the promotional group's regular monthly meeting. President W. W. Cook Sr. of Beatrice noted that snowpacked roads over much of the 17-county area cut into attendance.

Felsch, 46, most recently city manager at Sidney, is a California native with managerial experience also at Beverly Hills and Helena, Mont. He succeeds David S. Carson, who had been acting manager.

Mobile Office

Locating in an unspecified community within the area, Felsch will operate from a unique "mobile field office" which will headquarter alternately in various towns. Cook explained that the trailer-type facility, specially designed with a conference room and display area "will enable us to take our program directly to the people."

The offer of the vehicle was officially accepted after representatives of Frontier Homes Corp. of Falls City and Omaha explained its use. Bill Curren and John Kreissler said their firm will lease the trailer for one dollar annually.

Pending construction of the unit, temporary headquarters will be provided in Wahoo by town businessmen. The office has been in Fairbury since establishment of the organization several months ago.

OK Expo Plans

Enthusiastically approved were preliminary plans for an Air-Age Industry Exposition scheduled for Lincoln May 23-25. Utilizing an aircraft theme but including all types of industry, the Air Park West exhibition will include sidelights such as a fly-in, aircraft display and addresses by noted industrialists.

"This will allow Southeast Nebraska for the first time to show off virtually all its industry under one roof," said Chairman Carroll Thompson of Lincoln.

Announced as Lincoln committee members were Larry Enersen, Charles Arnold, Bob Peterson, Dar Blazek, Fred Chase, Ron Tornblom and Fred Eiche. Representatives from other counties will be named later to solicit industries for booth reservations.

Irvin Smith, chairman of the group's new 13-member industrial development advisory council, stressed the need for industrial sites throughout the area. Predicting a reverse in population trend, he noted that between 1950-60 the 17 counties "lost the equivalent of five cities the size of Falls City."

Dean Peterson of Lincoln said the organization is still approximately $8,000 short of a $43,000 budget goal and that 61 towns have made no contribution. Mrs. Wanda Owens of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development urged participation of the area's 164 communities in the new statewide community improvement competition.

Wahoo will host the next directors' meeting March 19.

J. Schowalter, Lincoln Retiree, Dies At Age 101

Funeral services are pending at Hodgman-Splain-Roberts' Mortuary, 4040 A, for John Schowalter of 540 N. 24th St., retired real estate and insurance man, who died Monday, on his 101st birthday.

Mr. Schowalter, a native of Stockborn, Germany, came to America in 1884 and settled in Cook, where he went into the real estate and insurance businesses.

He had been a Lincoln resident since 1922 and had spent the last five years in a Lincoln rest home.

Publishers Call Deliveries Tardy

Washington (AP)—Representatives of magazine and newspaper publishers met with Post Office Department officials Tuesday and complained about worsening service and continually tardy delivery of publications.

Postal officials, headed by Deputy Postmaster General Frederick C. Belen, said that once the specific problems are detailed the department will try to solve them.

County Board Okays Tax Refunds For 48 Persons

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday approved real estate tax refunds totaling $3,183.75 to 40 individuals and eight personal property tax penalty refunds totaling $220.

The real estate refunds are being made in the form of cash refunds to individuals who paid 1966 taxes and transferred property.

Otherwise the refunds, which stem from a Supreme Court ruling which struck down valuation increases placed on Lancaster County real estate by the State Board of Equalization, are being credited to 1967 taxes.

The penalty refunds are being made as a part of a Supreme Court ruling declaring unconstitutional penalties assessed in 1962, 1963 and 1964 for failure to file schedules or list items on personal property schedules.

In other business, the board approved the appointment of Delton Zieman as chief deputy sheriff, succeeding Leslie C. Hasson who retired effective March 1.

The board also plans to look at possible furniture needed in the new building which is made by Nebraska Prison Industries.

Commissioners indicated to representatives of the Prison Industries for refurnishing the new building but that any new furniture would be up to individual department heads who may include it in their budgets.

They said that interested department heads would be asked to go with them to view the furniture.

Kearney St. Enrollment Lid Studied

By United Press International

Kearney State College, faced with a space problem, was considering Tuesday asking the Nebraska Normal Board for authority to limit enrollments next fall.

Dr. Milton Hassel, college president, declined to discuss specifics, pending briefing of board members.

"We have a space problem that will be discussed with the board," he said.

The board is scheduled to meet at 9 a.m. Wednesday in the Capitol. Dr. Hassel said he will attend the session.

Dr. Francis J. Brown of Genoa, board president, said he was not familiar with any plan to restrict enrollments but that he doubted such a request would be approved.

"They have a problem there but I don't think this would be the best way to solve it," he said.

The board's current policy is to admit all Nebraska high school graduates who apply for admission to the state colleges in Kearney, Peru, Chadron and Wayne.

Kearney had 4,839 students on campus last fall, the highest enrollment in the school's history. Officials are expecting more than 5,000 students this fall. This compares with 1,112 in 1955.

The special session of the Legislature last month rejected the school's request for permission to issue $3.5 million in revenue bonds for major capital improvements.

The bonds would have been used to finance a 400-bed dormitory, a new football stadium, a food service unit and a paved parking lot.

The bond plan had been approved by the Normal Board and construction was to have started this spring.

NEW DEVICE . . . demonstrated by Trooper Tom Roth.

Patrol Tests Speed Detector

"The speed of your vehicle has just been timed by a revolutionary new device called VASCAR" is the start of a "greeting card" that may soon introduce Nebraska drivers to a machine being tested by the State Patrol.

The device, a "Visual Average Speed Computer and Recorder" (VASCAR) can clock the speed of a moving vehicle without the necessity of a "speed trap" along a roadside.

With the device, troopers can measure accurately and easily the speed of vehicles they are following, as well as those coming from the opposite direction, to the rear of the patrol car or crossing at an intersection.

Operate While Parked

"The trooper does not have to travel the same speed of the vehicle being clocked and he can operate the device while he is parked or patrolling," said Col. J. E. Kruger, Patrol chief.

VASCAR is confined to a cigar box-seized housing placed in the patrol car.

The trooper who operates VASCAR must be trained to start the timing device at a landmark or reference point and then switch off the device at another landmark.

Computes Speed

The mechanism automatically computes the speed of the vehicle by using the time elapsed and the distance between the two points.

If adopted, Patrol Capt. C. P. Karthauser said, the Patrol will develop its own training course to teach the operation of the device to troopers.

VASCAR, which costs $895 per unit, measures the average speed of a vehicle rather than registering the "peak" speed.

Jerry Berg, a training representative for VASCAR's manufacturer, said a trained officer rarely misjudges a reference point by more than 10 feet.

Less Than 2 m.p.h.

But Berg said a trooper could misjudge a reference point by 100 feet for a car traveling 100 miles an hour over a distance of a mile, and VASCAR's computed error in the speed would still be less than two miles an hour.

Berg said his company recommends that a car be clocked over a distance of at least one-eighth of a mile to insure accuracy.

The device has already been adopted by 14 state law enforcement agencies, and is being tested in 20 other states.

Capt. Karthauser said the State Patrol will gradually add VASCAR to its units if the current evaluation proves successful.

Doctor 'Spoke For Himself' In Supporting Spending Limit

Dr. Max Raines, North Platte physician, says he is speaking for himself and not for the Nebraska Political Action Committee when he endorses the initiative petition drive of A. J. Treutler of Omaha to place a constitutional limit on state spending.

Dr. Raines heads the Political Action Committee, an organization supported by Nebraska physicians to help elect congressional candidates friendly to medicine.

Dr. Raines said Monday he told Treutler that "my endorsement was my own personal viewpoint." But the doctors said "we know too much is being collected in taxes today," and the amendment "won't curb education."

Dr. Robert Morgan of Alliance, president of the State Medical Association, disagreed with Dr. Raines' position.

"If voters approved a ceiling on state spending, it would affect every elementary and secondary school in Nebraska as well as the university, including the medical center," Dr. Morgan said.

Music Program At NU Postponed

The third in a series of contemporary music symposiums produced by the University of Nebraska School of Music has been postponed and will be rescheduled at a later date.

The program was to have been held at 8 p.m. on Feb. 29 in the choral room of the Westbrook Music Building on the city campus.

No PKU Cases Found By State Health Dept.

The State Health Department reports that it has not discovered any cases of phenylketonuria (PKU) since tests for the birth abnormality became mandatory in October.

The 1967 Legislature passed a law that all newborn babies be tested for the metabolic disorder which can lead to mental retardation if not treated. The results of the test or reasons for not administering it must be recorded on the birth certificate before it is forwarded to the bureau of vital statistics.

Eldon McConnell, director of the state health laboratory, said no cases of the defect, which occurs about once in 10,000 births, have been brought to his attention.

"But we are doing only a very small percentage of the testing," McConnell said. "We've only done about 200 of the tests."

The state law provided that the state laboratory should perform the tests in only those cases where hospital laboratory facilities are not available.

"The intent of the law was not to supplant but to supplement existing PKU testing facilities," McConnell said.

He said that the law provided that the Health Department could regulate the testing but so far it has only set guidelines. These guidelines, he said, do not include stating on the birth certificate what kind of test was performed, or where or by whom it was given. He said he expects the next legislature will recieve legislation "clearing up the language of the law."

The Bureau of Vital Statistics which receives all state birth certificates said it had discovered no abnormal test results from the month of November which is the last month it has checked. If no test result is given on the certificate, the bureau arranges a test.

Lincoln hospitals have been giving the test since it was devised several years ago and reported no cases of PKU since the law went into effect. Two of the hospitals do testing for the area hospitals but laboratory spokesmen said that no additional hospitals have been submitting samples since the law went into effect.

McConnell said he did not know how many hospitals were giving the required tests. He said there are no plans for registration or approval of PKU testing facilities. But he added that before the law it was thought that 65 to 90% of Nebraska babies were receiving the test.

2nd Test Launch Of Moon Rocket Is Tentatively Set

Washington (AP) — The second test launching of the moon rocket designed to put men onto the lunar surface was set Tuesday for no earlier than March 21.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the date as a milestone in the moon flight effort.

Stuhr Museum Can't Go Into Debt To Finance Expenditures—Opinion

The attorney general's office held Tuesday the Stuhr Museum in Grand Island cannot go into debt to finance expenditures beyond its budgeted funds.

The opinion also shut the door on a proposal to establish a "reserve account" that would be financed by selling property donated to the museum.

Hall County Atty. Robert E. Paulick of Grand Island asked for the ruling after the museum reported it had already spent 85% of its $176,000 budget for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Supported By Tax

The museum is supported by a two-mill county-wide property tax. Appropriations are made annually by the County Board.

"Museum officials were looking for a way to get additional funds for the current fiscal year but the attorney general's opinion pretty much indicates they have to stick by the budget," Paulick said.

Assistant Atty. Gen. C. C. Sheldon, who authored the opinion, found there is no state law authorizing a public museum to go into debt.

"Similarly, we know of no manner whereby a museum might create a reserve fund for the purpose of meeting current expenses when all available funds budgeted for the year have been either expended or committed for expenditure," he said.

The opinion was reviewed and approved by Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer.

Kearney Bid Low For Gym Razing

A Kearney company Tuesday had the apparent low bid for the razing of the gymnasium building at the Boys' Training School in Kearney.

A. W. Skeen and Son's made a low bid of $2,450, according to Donald W. Duncan, director of the State Department of Public Institutions.

NU Professor Named Director Of Ad Academy

A University of Nebraska journalism professor was named a regional director of the American Academy of Advertising at the group's 10th annual conference in Washington, D.C.

Albert C. Book, who heads the advertising sequence of the university's school of journalism, was chosen by the academy last week, and will hold this new post for 1968-69 in addition to his position as chairman of the group's national finance committee.

The academy is comprised of advertising and marketing professors from universities throughout the country. The post carries with it automatic membership on the academy's board of directors.

3 Pen Inmates Paroled

Three Nebraska Penitentiary inmates were paroled Tuesday by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles. They are:

—Harry W. Coleman, 24, Omaha, sentenced to four years for burglary from Douglas County on May 19, 1966.

—Frank DeRosa, 42, Omaha, sentenced to seven years for sodomy from Douglas County on May 4, 1965.

—James L. Wilburn, 27, of Iowa, sentenced two years for prison escape and auto theft from Lancaster County on June 15, 1966.

The board commuted to a Texas detainer Robert L. Barrow, sentenced to seven years Sept. 10, 1964, for robbery and shooting with intent to kill from Lancaster County.

Action was deferred on the parole petition of Michael E. Ackerman, 23, Omaha, serving a one to two-year term for burglary from Pawnee County.

NU Regents Set Omaha Meeting

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents will meet at 11 a.m. Friday in the dean's office at the College of Medicine in Omaha. The Regents also will inspect facilities at the Medical Center.

Country Club Plaza Country Club Terrace Kessler Heights in the suburban areas

Like those lucky pennies, new residents are turning up and settling down in suburbia every morning and this morning mostly in the Country Club Terrace vicinity. But before we talk about new families, let's concern ourselves with the newest faces in familiar Lincoln families.

Mr. and Mrs. Garry U. Wolf are the parents — and very proud ones — of a son, Master Jason Garry Wolf. Born on Monday, Feb. 12, Jason is the first addition to the Country Club Plaza family and, appropriately enough, is getting all of his parents' and grandmother's attention.

Jason's grandmother, Mrs. Lloyd Preston of Alma, is currently a helpful houseguest at the Wolf home, but the young man's other grandparents, Mr. Preston and Mr. and Mrs. Ulis Wolf of Republican City were introduced to Jason last weekend when they visited in the city.

Another new arrival who has captured the hearts of the members of her family is Miss Rhonda Marie Blodgett, daughter of Kessler Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Blodgett. Rhonda who made her appearance on February 13 at Lincoln General Hospital, has one sister, Catherine Jo-Lee, who is 11 years old.

Rhonda's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Orville Pietenpol; and Mrs. Ruth Blodgett of Summerfield, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith seemed to have made a few additions to their Country Club Terrace family recently when they entertained houseguests. A little fuller than usual, the Smith home hosted Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Smith of Ottawa, Kan., for the weekend. Visiting with their grandparents were Susan, Craig and Kim.

Now to those new faces — the foursome of faces at 3925 Dunn belong to the Louis Keller family — Mr. and Mrs. Keller and their two sons, Louie and Gary. Asked about her interests, Mrs. Keller reports that just getting settled is occupying most of the family's time.

Former residents of Scottsbluff, but natives of South Dakota, Mr. and Mrs. Keller arrived in the city in mid-January. Mr. Keller is associated with a Lincoln insurance firm.

Nebraska City's losses are Lincoln's newest residents. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Northcott, Sr., made their move three weeks ago to a Country Club Terrace home at 4160 Dunn, and accompanying them were their daughter, Pamela, and son, Donald. Pamela is a freshman at Wayne College this year and her brother is a sophomore at Lincoln Southeast.

Family interests at the Northcott home seem to run in only one direction — Boy Scouts. Mr. Northcott is Lincoln's new district Scout executive and getting settled in a new Scout program is occupying everyone's time at the moment.

Not to be outdone, Kimberly Heights also s happy to welcome some new residents into the area. 3330 Van Dorn is the address in question, and presently making their home at that location are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Allen and family. Mr. and Mrs. Allen are also out-of-towners — Fremont is their fosmer home — and they arrived in Lincoln on February 3. We musn't forget to mention the fact that they have two children, Debra, 3, and David, 2; and that Mr. Allen is with the Victor Business Forms.

Church Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Joyce Ann Basford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. Basford of Benton Station, Maine, and Lt. James A. Larsen, USN, son of Mrs. Alvina Larsen of Lincoln, took place Sunday afternoon, Feb. 11, at the Methodist Church in Fairfield, Maine. Bouquets of white and pink carnations decorated the altar for the 2 o'clock service, which was solemnized by the Rev. George Broadbent.

Wearing Empire frocks of velvet and crepe in the burgundy shade were Mrs. Bentley Crosby, Waterville, Maine, the matron of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Blanche Dunton, York Beach, Maine.

Lt. Carl Schneeberger of Kent, Ohio, served as best man, and seating the guests were Lt. Wilfred Pawlak, Lena, Wis.; William Basford, Benton Station, brother of the bride; and Bentley Crosby, Waterville.

White Chantilly lace and silk crepe fashioned the bride's slender gown. Above the slim, crepe skirt, the Empire basque of lace was designed with long sleeves, and the court train of lace was banded with crepe. Her tiered illusion veil was held by a cap of jeweled lace petals.

Lt. and Mrs. Larsen left for Bremerton, Wash., where the bridegroom has been assigned to the USS Puget Sound. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, he has served two years at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard. Mrs. Larsen is a graduate of Farmington State College, Farmington, Maine, and has been teaching in the York, Maine, schools.

Bridal Courtesies

A bride-to-be of early spring who will be honored next Tuesday is Miss Linda Lorraine Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson, who has chosen Saturday, March 2, for her marriage to Duane Ihrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Scofield.

Honoring the soon-to-be bride will be Mrs. James Pittenger and Mrs. Robert Smith who will be hostesses to a bridge club of which Mrs. Scofield is a member at the home of Mrs. Pittenger. During the informal afternoon, a one-gift shower will be presented to Miss Nelson.

The wedding of Miss Nelson and Mr. Ihrie will take place at a 2 o'clock ceremony, at St. Teresa's Church.

Revealing plans for an early spring wedding is Miss Cheryl Packett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Packett, who will become the bride of Larry D. Dahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dahl, on Saturday, March 23.

For the 4 o'clock service, to be solemnized at the Havelock Methodist Church, Miss Packett has named her sister, Mrs. James Rolofson, as her matron of honor. Miss Leslie Roper will be the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Linda Dahl, her fiance's sister.

Mr. Dahl's cousin, Miss Roxanne Beranek, will attend Miss Packett as flower girl.

Serving his nephew as best man will be Dennis Beranek, and the groomsmen will be the bride-elect's brother, Virgil Packett, Jr., and Mr. Dahl's brother, Ron Dahl. Terry Nelson will light the chancel candles.

Saturday evening, Miss Packett will be honored at a bridal courtesy for which Mrs. Gayle Roper, her daughter, Miss Leslie Roper, and Miss Lynn Johnson will be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Roper.

The bride-to-be will be presented a miscellaneous shower on Sunday afternoon when Mrs. Minnie Hoyt will entertain a group of neighbors and family friends at her home.

Also honoring the soon-to-be bride in the near future will be Mrs. Paul Hart and Mrs. Clifford Mayhugh, who will be hostesses at a shower Friday evening, March 1, at the home of Mrs. Hart.

The courtesies already have begun for the many brides-to-be who have chosen June wedding dates. Miss Barbara Newell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Newell, whose betrothal to William Richard Sonne of Denver, was revealed recently, was the guest of honor last Saturday evening at a party held at the home of Mrs. Tom Reigert.

The group of guests presented a miscellaneous shower to the honoree.

Miss Newell, who currently is careering in Denver, has chosen June 28, for her wedding which will take place at Trinity Lutheran Church.

up and down the street

One might think that on a cold and windy day—such as yesterday was — you'd find everyone at home. But that was not the case. Nevertheless we sauntered up one street and down another and visited with this one and that one.

Our first stop was on South Twenty-Eighth — 245, to be specific. There we found Mrs. Bruce Campbell busy writing leters — some to friends — some to family who reside away from Lincoln. Dcring our visit we learned that Mrs. Campbell likes to travel—but 'not in this kind of weather.' And besides, she spent part of January in the hospital, so now she is more or less taking it easy.

We learned that there were no neighborhood coffees in this particular neighborhood —at least Mrs. Campbell doesn't know of any. For that matter, so she says, she doesn't know any of her neighbors.

"When a woman has worked for as many years as I did," Mrs. Campbell said, "you really don't learn too much about being neighborly."

* * *

Our next stop was at 1620 So. 22nd St. Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Gilbert and their four children reside at that address—Perhaps we should say four children and one foster child—a girl who isn't small, but certainly not completely grown up.

We were very interested in the Gilbert family — the two little girls—one of them eight years old, and the other nine and a half, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert. The two small boys, one almost seven years old, and the second one a scant two-and-a-half, are adopted — both charming little Indians.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert moved to their present address from one of the suburban areas, and Mrs. Gilbert notices the difference.

"Everyone in this neighborhood has an 'apartment attitude' — They go to work, come home, go about their own affairs and never see a neighbor." Mrs. Gilbert added that the 'apartment attitude' is quite a natural considering the number of apartment houses in the area.

It's quite a distance from South 22nd St., to our next stop, but we made it. There, at 346 B St., we chattered with Ray C. McCullough — This, of course, was because Mrs. McCullough wasn't at home. She will be returning on Wednesday from Chicago where she is visiting her daughter, Miss Cherie McCullough.

Perhaps you didn't know that Miss McCullough is studying ballet in Cameron Ballet School in Chicago, and that she has chosen ballet dancing as her profession.

We hear that the Stone Cameron Ballet School is planning a spring show in mid-May, and that our future prima ballerina has a solo in the production.

We're guessing that if we call upon Mr. and Mrs. McCullough around May 14 and 15, we will find neither of them at home. They will be in Chicago, of course.

Program

A program on economical grocery shopping and meal planning for the middle aged was presented by Mrs. L. V. Skidmore and Mrs. W. E. Lyness, Thursday afternoon, at the meeting of the Odds And Ends Extension Club.

Mrs. Phillip Henderson was hostess to the group at her home, and the program included group singing led by Mrs. A. W. Peeks, and piano and organ duets by Mrs. G. E. Dorsey and Mrs. Henderson.

We Hear That

Sp.5 and Mrs. Thomas R. Choate of Eielson AFB, Alaska, announce the birth of a daughter, Dorothy Leona, on Tuesday, Feb. 13. The baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arland Klein of Lincoln, and Mrs. Earl Choate of Spokane, Wash., is the paternal grandmother. The young lady also has another ardent admirer in Lincoln, her maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Leona Klein.

NWU Coed, Bride

In the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, the marriage of Miss Lynda Erickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry B. Erickson of Fremont, to Ens. Stanley G. Burchfield, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Burchfield of Omaha, was solemnized Monday afternoon, Feb. 12, at the First Lutheran Church in Fremont. The lines of the service were read at 4 o'clock, by the Rev. Milbern Goetz.

A student at Nebraska Wesleyan University, the bride is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Ens. Burchfield, who is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, recently completed training at the U.S. Naval Officers Candidate School, Newport, R.I., and will be stationed at the Glenco Naval Base, Brunswick, Ga.

Recipe Makes Lincoln Woman Richer

Mrs. Helen Borner of Lincoln was one of the belles of the Pillsbury ball on Tuesday when she was one of the winners at the annual Pillsbury 'bake-off,' held this year in Dallas, Tex.

But we'll let the Associated Press tell the story:

Dallas, Tex. (AP) — Judges awarded the buttercream pound cake of Mrs. Albert Lidert from Oak Lawn, Ill., a Chicago suburb, the $25,000 grand prize today in the Pillsbury Co. bakeoff.

Mrs. Lidert, a mother of four, used lemon frosting mix for the flavor and poppy seed in one of the nation's favorite recipes to triumph over 99 other finalists in the annual contest.

Three other women shared $5,000 runnerup prizes in the 19th annual event, staged in the big Dallas Apparel Mart —Mrs. J. David Taylor of Dallas, Mrs. Lee Holcomb of Farmington, N.M., and Mrs. Edward Schumann of Oshkosh, Wis.

Betty Taylor, wife of a Ph.D. in psychology candidate, triumphed in a new refrigerated fresh dough category with "craft crescent lasagne," using the standard ingredients inside refrigerated crescent dinner rolls.

Baking at a range between Mrs. Lidert and Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Holcomb won with "toffee breaks," a cookie using English toffee frosting mix that takes minutes to prepare.

"Bacon braid," in the mix category, gained Mrs. Schumann her prize. It is a combination of hot roll mix and cream cheese in yeast bread, flavored with bacon.

Peter Russell, 12, of Shawnee-Mission, Kan., claimed a $2,000 junior class award with "poppin' fresh barbecups," a snack with barbecued meat inside refrigerated tenderleaf biscuits topped with cheese.

Runnerup $2,000 prizes likewise went to Mrs. Raymond H. Norton of Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Glen Malenke of Austin, Minn., and Mrs. Helen Borner of Lincoln, Neb.

Mrs. Norton followed a recipe using pie crust mix and chow mein noodles to concoct "double buttercups;" Mrs. Malenke produced "orange juice ripplecake," employing concentrated orange juice and sour cream, and Mrs. Borner baked "apple spoon-up," following a quickly prepared recipe using refrigerated crescent rolls with an apple base.

A $1,000 "bright idea" bonus went to Mrs. Tera Halen Mampell of Falls Church, Va. Her "pretzel rolls" earned the respect of sponsoring home economists who said they had never seen a hard crust achieved on a yeast roll.

THE LENGTH TO WEAR

There should be no confusion in your fashion choice this Spring and Summer. This is the fashion era of wardrobe lengths, an age to enjoy being individual with fashion variety. You needn't give up one length to wear another. A few inches up, or down — there's no formula for everyone. Skirt lengths depend on the dress, individual and on where and when you plan to wear it.

Hovland-Swanson believes

. . . . in the MINI length: that's for sports or for the young, always was.

. . . . in the MIDI (at mid calf): for occasion dressing, party, patio and at home wear.

. . . . in the MARVI: when your hemline stops with assurance somewhere around the knee. It's right and looks marvelous for everyone.

Josephine Lowman Answers Questions

Q. I have seen women who have lost weight but still have a hump at the back of their neck. I am still losing weight, but I am afraid this excess will remain on me too. Is there anything I can do to avoid this?

A. First remember that the bump at the back of the neck is the result of poor posture as well as deposits of fat. Therefore, strive to improve the way you carry yourself, spine straight, chin parallel to the floor, making your neck as long as possible. Sleep without a pillow if you can or use a small one. Corrective exercises will also help.

Q. Please answer this in your column. What is the ideal weight for a girl who is 16 years old, 5 feet 5 and has a medium-to-large build? I think it is nearer medium. What should her measurements be?

A. Her weight should be about 122 to 125 pounds. With an average build, bust about 35 inches, waist 23 to 25 inches and hips 35 to 37 inches.

Q. I have had several colds this winter, not enough to put me to bed but I didn't feel like having my hair shampooed. Is there any way I can dry clean it?

A. Yes. One of the newest ideas is to spray on a mist which cleans your hair. An aerosol dry shampoo is an aid at times such as you mention.

Q. Can you tell me if there is a cure for those brown spots which appear on your arms and hands? Is there any way I can even make them a little dimmer? They look awful! They get especially bad when I work out in the sun, and then they just stay!

A. You more or less answered your own question. Stay out of the sun as much as possible and take protective measures when you are in it. Use a lotion which screens out some of the rays and wear a hat and long sleeves and gloves. After once acquiring these spots bleaching creams may help some, and they lighten during the winter. You can hide them with cosmetics.

Opening lead — nine of spades.

Dear Mr. Becker: I been reading your columns lately and I figure you play pretty good. I wanted to ask your opinion on a hand we played at the club yesterday.

The way I look at it my partner shouldn't have bid seven but he did. This don't make sense to me because here we got a 700-point rubber stashed away and 750 for a little slam, and he takes a gamble to lose the whole thing just to try and make a big slam. This don't look like good percentage to me.

But here I am, and I've got to do the best I can. So I look the dummy over very careful and I see I have to lose a heart because I can't eat it, unless maybe I can con these guys out of it.

This fellow sitting East, his name is Charlie Four Cents, he can't beat his way out of a paper bag. If I can give him the office I've got a chance, because he don't really know from nothing.

So I start pulling trumps and I keep pulling them till I don't have any more left. I'm hoping Charlie will get mixed up. Next I run the A-K-Q of clubs, and when I cash the queen Four Cents looks worried.

You see, dummy by this time has the K-3 of spades and nine of hearts. Charlie don't know what to throw because he's got the Q-J of spades and K-Q of hearts.

Would you believe it, Mr. Becker, he threw the queen of hearts and made my A-10 good and we knocked off the grand slam. I tell you this fellow don't know what time of day it is. Should my partner have bid seven? Yours truly, Butch.

Dear Butch: I don't think so, but I've been wrong before. I woudn't squawk if I were you. Just keep on playing your cards the way you played them this hand and Four Cents will be out of money in no time.

ABBY:

a warning flag

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband (45 years old) came home with a Valentine's gift from a 35-year-old single girl at work. It was a T-shirt of the best quality. With it she enclosed a little note telling him to get with it — that sleeveless undershirts were out, and that real sharp guys wore T-shirts instead.

The very next day my husband went out and bought himself a complete supply of T-shirts and asked me if I knew someone who could use his old sleeveless undershirts as he was discarding them.

Now he wears the kind of undershirts the girl at the office recommended. How do you like that!

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I don't know what this girl sees in your husband, but she obviously sees thru him. Since an undergarment as a "Valentine" hardly qualifies as a practical joke, perhaps you should regard it as a warning flag.

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 years old and work in a large office. When I was younger I fell down and broke my nose, and have always wanted to have it operated on to make it prettier.

The doctor says I will have to be in the hospital for a week, and it will take about three weeks more before all the blue marks and swelling disappear completely. This means a whole month away from work.

My problem is that I don't want anyone at the office to know why I am going to be gone for a month, but I have insurance here at work that will take care of part of the expense, so I will have to let them know. How can I keep my secret!

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Since you're sensitive about it, tell them at work that you are going into the hospital for some "corrective surgery" . . . and don't wait around for further questioning. When you return, the improvement will be obvious, but don't be embarrassed. Cosmetic surgery is nothing to be ashamed of.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Stop Winter Wrinkles

Wrinkles are river-beds of dry skin cells caused by the plasma colloids (moisture carriers of the skin) having dried out. A tendency to dryness is often heightened in winter, but if you smooth a tropical oil over your face and neck each day you will soon find that traces of wrinkle-dryness are eased away and that your complexion has gained line-free loveliness. Ask your druggist for oil of Olay and before making-up, smooth it over the face, neck and hands to give the skin a beautiful, youthful bloom.

The antique city of Lisbon —(Lisboa they say here)—is built on seven hills.

All cities of note are on seven hills, have you noticed that?

Rome is on seven hills. San Francisco is on seven hills. There are several others I cannot recall this rainy day on the Tagus river beside the sea. It is a magic number.

Anyway, Lisbon is hilly — I give you that. And in the middle of downtown, there is an elevator that takes you up to the upper part of town. It is part of the street railway and bus system.

Downtown Lisbon is built around the Praca Rossio — "the rolling square" they call it. The swooping black-and-white tile work is supposed to make you walk like a sailor ashore.

It is a pretty square. The stone buildings have an arched Moorish feeling about them. The Moors held this country during the Dark Ages. They left their mark in place names, architecture and dark-eyed people who might have stepped instantly from Araby.

The Praca Rossio is surrounded by coffee houses. When Portugal colonized Brazil, the first thing they brought back was coffee. And today, no Portuguese businessman could work without his favorite coffee house.

Portuguese businessmen come to work about 10:30—I think. And immediately they go out for morning coffee.

They say: "In the coffee houses is where we hear the news. We exchange information. We buy and we sell, and we make our business."

The coffee house is like the American three-martini lunch.

It's a high roast coffee. Strong enough to blow a safe. There are coffee houses catering to bankers in the Rua d'Ouro — the Street of Gold.

There are coffee houses for musicians. For jewelers. For government people.

There are no coffee houses for women. It's men's work.

According to your taste, the time of day or the state of hangover, there are classic ways to drink the brew.

The best-known is a small, demi-tasse cup. You spoon it half full of sugar. The waiter fills it with steaming black coffee. (The sugar cuts that bitter roast taste.)

Or you can have a garoto — a small cup of coffee with milk.

A small cup black is a bica.

The coffee drinkers read the newspapers — highly censored by Dr. Salazar's long-time government. Then they exchange what is really going on. A verbal supplement to the printed news.

"Without the coffee house," say the Portuguese, "we would never know what is happening."

Lisbon on the hills is a city of tree-lined avenues. The traffic circles are decorated with intricate stone statuary. Mostly of wars. For Portugal was fought over by Moors and Napoleon and Wellington.

Dying stone soldiers clutch the falling stone flags. And stone horses rear forever over the silent firing stone cannon.

At the top of the lovely Avenida da Liberdade, the Marquez de Pombal stands in stony silence, overlooking the city he built after the dreadful earthquake in 1755. A stone lion crouches at his feet.

The Marquez was a lion of a fellow.

When a noble plot was discovered against his king, the marquez wiped out two entire families. I mean he shot them right down to the kissing cousins.

Then he ripped their noble banners from the noble display halls.

He sent away thousands of churchmen whose numerous demands dragged down the poor. Fell out of favor (as reformers do) and spent his later life in exile.

He stands today at the top of the city he built.

We bought a mill's entire stock of fine olefin carpet!

And our square yard price includes measuring, cutting, delivery, expert installation over heavy rubberized padding. Not one additional charge!

That's right. 4.99 per sq. yd. puts this superb carpet in your home. It's olefin polypropolene pile. A tongue-twisting name for one of the most recent advances in man-made carpet fibers. A wonderful concoction that combines lightweight beauty with incredible strength. Here are some of its features.

- Retains its original beauty
- Has subdued, more natural-looking lustre
- No fuzzing or pilling, no lint problems
- Cleans easily because dirt simply cannot penetrate this incredible fiber
- So it naturally resists stains, too
- Low static electricity build-up. Less than any other carpet fibers
- Completely moth-proof and non-allergenic

Sound like the kind of carpet you could really live with? You're right! And thanks to this very special purchase of such a large quantity you can have it at a truly amazing low price. Far below what you would ordinarily pay for the carpeting alone. And we're offering complete installation along with it. Come in or call soon. Choose new carpeting for a room or for the whole house. It comes in Spanish gold, olive green, blue green, or bronze gold tweed. No down payment. Easy monthly terms on your Homemaker's Account. Free delivery within 200 miles.

Escobedo Is Given 22 Years

Chicago (AP) — Danny Escobedo, who won a historic Supreme Court reversal of a murder conviction, was sentenced to prison for 22 years Tuesday for trafficking in heroin.

Four years ago he gave his name to the Escobedo Decision, a ruling that put the nation's law enforcers on guard to make certain the constitutional rights of arrested persons are observed.

Escobedo, now 29, had been convicted of murdering his brother-in-law. The Supreme Court set aside the conviction in finding that Escobedo had not been allowed to consult a lawyer before giving a statement to authorities.

The 22-year sentence covered four incidents of dealing in dope. The maximum punishment would have been 160 years in prison and a fine of $160,000.

Union Chiefs Nix Federal Try At Talks

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP) — Union leaders turned down Tuesday a government proposal aimed at getting bargaining talks going in the seven-month-old strike crippling most of the nation's copper industry.

Representatives of 26 striking unions said the federal suggestion that they drop their demands for company-wide bargaining is "unacceptable."

A strike coordinating committee headed by United Steelworkers Vice President Joseph P. Molony said the unions can't wipe out "inequities" in wages and working conditions by bargaining piecemeal.

Canadian Chief Pearson Seeks Confidence Vote

Ottawa (AP) — Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said Tuesday night he will seek a confidence vote Wednesday to try to reverse a major parliamentary upset suffered by his Liberal government while he was on a Caribbean holiday.

Returning to Ottawa on Tuesday, Pearson announced the government will bring a motion to the House of Commons to establish "without doubt" whether it has the confidence of Parliament.

Forty-seven Liberal members who had been absent Monday night when a government income tax surcharge bill was voted down 84-82 were called to Ottawa.

Firemen Quickly Halt Home Blaze

Lincoln firemen quickly extinguished a blaze in the David Saltzman home, 720 So. 27th, Tuesday afternoon.

No one was in the house when the fire was discovered and firemen reported no injuries.

District Fire Chief Curt Kadlick said the fire apparently originated in electrical wiring on the second floor of the frame house.

Firemen chopped a hole in the roof of the dwelling to allow smoke to escape, but officials said damage to the house was limited.

Bonds Sought For Cafe Nixed

State Auditor Ray C. Johnson Tuesday refused to register $100,000 in Industrial Development Act (IDA) bonds sought by the city of Fairmont for construction of a supper club.

He said the project does not comply with the constitutional provisions that IDA bonds be used only for "manufacturing and industrial enterprises."

The city wants the bonds to rebuild a restaurant (Mumby's Cafe) that burned down last month. The Geneva State Bank had agreed to issue the bonds.

Launches Reported

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union launched two unmanned satellites in the "Cosmos" series. Official announcements of the launchings omitted, as usual, their precise functions.

State Agencies Unable To 'Divert' Tax Funds

State agencies are restricted to spending tax funds for programs approved by the Legislature and cannot divert such monies for unauthorized purposes.

That was the crux of an attorney general's opinion made public Tuesday by the Legislative Council, research arm of the Unicameral, in the wake of continued controversy over the purchase of the new $215,000 state airplane.

The opinion, which was actually written last November, supports the 1967 Legislature's decision to budget tax funds by agency program rather than in lump-sum form.

Limits Shifting

The effect is to limit the ability of agency administrators to shift funds from one program to another without legislative consent.

For example, an appropriation made by the Legislature to the tax commissioner's office for additional staff could not be used to purchase new cars.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, chairman of the Legislative Council's Executive Board, said it is proper, however, for a department to apply a broad interpretation to some programs.

'Nothing Illegal'

He said this is what the Aeronautics Department did in using funds from a program for operation of aircraft for purchase of the new plane. He said there was nothing illegal about the transaction.

Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer held that "appropriation of money of the state is a matter for the Legislature and not for the executive."

The opinion added: "Once the Legislature has made an appropriation, then that appropriation cannot be changed by a transfer of a part of the credit to another appropriation except by a duly enacted amendment to the appropriation bill."

Engineers, Contractors To Hold Meet

State Engineer John Hossack announced Tuesday a March 1 meeting between department engineers and highway contractors to discuss mutual construction problems.

Hossack said the session between division engineers from Omaha and Lincoln and the contractors would be held in the National Guard Armory at Lincoln.

Marvin L. Nuernberger, deputy state engineer for design, will be in charge of the meeting.

Hossack said the need for additional communication between the department and contractors was brought out last month in a meeting of Gov. Norbert Tiemann, Nebraska Associated General Contractors and the department.

A prior meeting will be held Feb. 29 between division headquarters personnel and field engineers to discuss construction problems not involving contractors.

Similar two-day meetings were held earlier this month at Grand Island and North Platte.

ADC To Be Topic

Aid to Dependent Children will be the topic of the community affairs discussion group of the Havelock Y.W.C.A., 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. The meeting is open to the public, and child care will be provided during the session.

Ed Department Awaits Opinion On Aid Question

The Department of Education is awaiting an attorney general's opinion to make the final determination of state aid to junior colleges, Lawrence Graham said Tuesday.

Graham, head of the department's school finance division, reported that the distribution of funds may hinge on whether summer school credit hours are to be included.

Assistance is based on $7.50 per credit hours for Nebraska students, making the outlay a total of $625,155 for the spring semester, Graham said. "But this could all change when we get the attorney general's opinion," Graham said.

Johnson Tax Bill Clears House Group

Washington (AP)—A billion-dollar package of President Johnson's tax proposals cleared Tuesday the congressional barrier that still halts his requested boost in income taxes.

The House Ways and Means Committee approved a bill to extend present automobile and telephone service excise taxes that otherwise would drop soon and to speed up the collection of corporate income tax.

These measures are estimated to be worth $1.1 billion in extra revenue during the remainder of this fiscal year—ending June 30—and $3.06 billion for the following year.

Johnson also wants a 10% surcharge on income taxes to produce $10 billion or more a year against an estimated $20-billion deficit for 1969. But the committee continues to sit on that proposal.

However, it did vote to include in its report on the excise taxes a statement, still to be written, that approval of these does not necessarily mean discarding the rest of Johnson's proposals.

Highlights of the bill approved Tuesday, and expected to go to the House for a vote next week:

The automobile excise tax, instead of dropping from the present seven per cent to two per cent April 1, 1968, and then to one per cent Jan. 1, 1969, would continue at seven per cent through 1968 and 1969. During 1970 it would be five per cent, during 1971 three per cent, during 1972 one per cent. It would drop off entirely Jan. 1, 1973.

The telephone excise tax, instead of dropping to three per cent April 1, 1968, would continue at the present 10% through 1968 and 1969. The rate would be five per cent during 1970, three per cent during 1971 and one per cent during 1972, dropping off entirely Jan. 1, 1973.

Under present law, corporations are required to estimate their taxes and pay them currently in four annual instalments. However, the first $100,000 of tax due need not be paid currently, so that some small corporations pay no tax currently and all corporations get to use up to $100,000 of income longer. The $100,000 in all cases, of course, must ultimately be paid.

The bill would phase out in five years, beginning now, the $100,000 privilege.

Surplus ASC Bin Sales Subject To Tax

State Tax Commissioner Murrell McNeil said Tuesday that ASC surplus grain bins purchased for use in Nebraska are subject to the state's 2½% sales tax.

McNeil said federal agencies selling the surplus bins are not obligated to collect the state sales tax, but the bins are subject to the state's sales and use tax.

The use tax is a complementary tax to the sales tax which becomes effective at such time as the sales tax is not collected.

"All farmers and others who are interested in the purchase of surplus grain bins must recognize their legal responsiblity to pay a use tax on the purchase of these bins in the same way they would pay a sales tax on such a bin if it were purchased from a retailer," he said.

McNeil said some confusion has resulted since purchasers have not been advised they are subject to a use tax under the Nebraska revenue law even though no sales tax is collected by the federal agency.

Arguments Set In Janing Case

The State Supreme Court announced Tuesday it will hear oral arguments March 8 on Douglas County Sheriff Theodore J. (Ted) Janing's appeal from an order removing him from office.

District Judge C. Thomas White of Columbus ousted Janing for alleged violation of the Nebraska Corrupt Practices Act.

The ruling came in a suit brought by Jerry K. Tomka, a member of former sheriff Patrick Corrigan's staff.

Tomka contends that Janing affected the outcome of the 1966 sheriff's election when he promised to abolish a "flower fund" and return certain other fees to the county.

Corrigan was defeated by Janing in the balloting.

Exon Formally Announces Bid For Demo Post

Lincoln businessman J. J. Exon Tuesday formally announced his candidacy for the post of Democratic national committeeman.

Exon has served as the party's state vice chairman since 1964.

Atomic Energy Films Available

The Great Plains National Instructional Television Library announced Tuesday it has a series of 14 films on atomic energy available for immediate leasing.

The series, entitled "The Peaceful Uses of Nuclear Energy," consists of 30-minute lessons designed for high school students.

Mrs. Morrison Files; Vying For 2nd District Seat

The wife of former Gov. Frank B. Morrison Tuesday filed the necessary papers with the secretary of state as a Democratic candidate for Congsess from the Second District.

Mrs. Morrison announced last week that she is a candidate. Douglas County Board President John J. Cavanaugh already has filed for nomination in the same race.

Also filing Tuesday were:

—William R. Slagle of Stanton as an uncommitted delegate at large to the Republican National Convention.

—Albert K. Oswald of Aurora for director of the Southern Division Rural Public Power District Subdivision 6.

—Walter W. Wagner of Tilden for director of the Elkhorn Rural Public Power District Subdivision 2.

Mrs. Orme Files For Re-Election

Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln filed Tuesday for re-election to the Legislature from the 29th District.

Mrs. Orme, 64, has served in the Legislature since 1959. Previously she was a member of the Lincoln City Council for 10 years.

Mrs. Orme, a member of the Budget Committee, said she decided to seek another term because "intelligent economy and prudent use of state revenues are more important today than ever."

Postmaster Given Year's Probation

Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt Tuesday placed Kathryn M. Whyrick on one year's probation on her plea of guilty to converting $268 of government funds to her own use while Postmaster at Garland.

A second count alleging a false report to postal authorities as to the amount of stamps on hand as of mid-1967 was dismissed.

Boy Hospitalized; Suffered Broken Leg In Accident

A 13-year-old Lincoln boy was hospitalized for treatment of a broken leg suffered in a car-pedestrian accident at 14th and S Sts., according to police.

A spokesman at Lincoln General Hospital said Donn Beaver of 2730 No. 60th was in fairly good condition.

The boy was injured when he was struck by a car driven by Douglas L. Loos, 19, of 2019 Pepper St. as Beaver and three other youngsters were crossing 14th, police said.

Police said the boys were waiting in the middle of 14th St. for traffic to stop when Donn started to cross the north traffic lane.

Callan To Speak At LCLU Meeting

Former Democratic Rep. Clair Callan will be featured speaker Thursday at the fourth session of the Lincoln Central Labor Union's public affairs institute.

The session is slated for the New Labor Temple at 7:30 p.m.

Callan served as First District congressman from 1965 to 1967, and is considered a likely candidate this year for the House seat now held by Republican Rep. Robert Denney.

Also speaking at this week's labor institute will be Paul Hempel of Chicago, assistant educational director of the Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butchermen of North America.

Is there a cure for piles?

Many leading authorities say there is no cure for piles short of surgery. But in some cases there is a product that may relieve pile pain. Its name is M.P.O.—Mentholatum Pile Ointment. M.P.O. contains Benzocaine, a topical anesthetic hospitals use to soothe burns and skin rash. It can give relief for hours. Get M.P.O. at your drug counter, in ointment or suppositories.

Lincoln OKs State Street Maintenance

Lincoln has become the first city in the state to contract with the State Department of Roads under 1967 legislation calling for state maintenance of state and federal highways in cities of 5,000 or more.

Smaller cities already had been receiving the state aid.

Lincoln Public Works Director Robert Obering said Tuesday a newly signed contract with the Highway Department will provide about $32,000 annually for routine surface maintenance of state highway connecting links located within the city.

About 20 miles of streets, or 60 lane miles, are involved.

Obering estimated that under the highway department's definition of "maintenance," only about half of actual maintenance costs will be paid by the state. Excluded are such items as special paint markings, sweeping, cleaning gutters and storm sewers, maintaining traffic signals, snow removal and extensive resurfacing.

The state will pay only for crack pouring, patching, lane painting and minor resurfacing.

Progress Reported

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson said the Civil Service Commission made "significant progress "toward making government careers "substantially more attractive" during fiscal 1967, which ended last June.

Airlines Are Strong In Rising Market

New York (AP) — Airlines and selected issues were strong in a recovering stock market Tuesday. Trading was moderately active.

Investors and traders, after feeling their way cautiously on Monday, bought more heavily as the recent period of selling appeared to have dried up.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 4.45 to $43.10.

The market was higher from the start and expanded its gains steadily throughout most of the session. Mild profit taking trimmed some prices right before the close.

Airlines, which have been depressed for a long time, responded to some buy suggestions in Wall Street. They also benefitted from attention cast on them by news that domestic airlines had agreed to cut domestic fares in half for foreign visitors and disclosed other reductions, for living accommodations and transportation.

Of 1,459 issues traded, 322 rose and 434 fell. New highs for 1967-'68 totaled 22 and new lows 25.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 3.55 million shares compared with 3.24 million Monday.

The New York Stock Exchange announced after the close that the short interest on the exchange had declared to 19,445,204 shares from 20,107,917 a month ago and was the lowest since last Nov. 14 when the short interest was 18.3 million shares

The short interest is the total of stocks borrowed and sold short, mainly with the intention of the borrower to make a profit by purchasing replacement stock in the future at a lower price. A higher short interest is regarded as technically bullish because it means a greater buying cushion under future markets.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Dollar Averaging Suitable Substitute For Crystal Ball

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Timing Important

Since timing is crucial in the adventure of living, it is frequently necessary to start building a financial nest egg before the saver becomes a highly knowledgeable investor.

An analysis of the behavior of security prices reaffirms the suitability of "dollar averaging" as a substitute for a crystal ball. Under "dollar averaging" you put precisely the same number of dollars periodically in exactly the same securities. It is essential as a minimum to select companies with strong survival prospects. "Dollar averaging" assures buying more securities when prices are depressed than when they are booming.

It is misleading to speak of the stock market as a whole. Wall Street has become more and more diversified and complex, and, while some categories have been rising, others simultaneously have been receding.

"Dollar averaging" not only obviates guessing about turning points in price movements, but also precludes the anticipating of fashion changes in the fluctuating tastes of investors.

Less Popular Issues

In two and a half years the quality stocks — the blue chips — have not done as well in the market as relatively unwanted issues which were cheaper in price to earnings ratios.

For example, while an index of low price stocks rose in the period from June 1965 by 110%, the Standard & Poor's high grade index actually declined by 6%. Even companies that showed advancing earnings in this category among utilities, banks, international oils, small loan companies, tire makers, food and life insurance have not paralleled profit improvement with commensurate market price advances. Of course, industries whose earnings were declining in the same period, such as steels, chemicals, autos and paper companies have not done well marketwise.

On the other hand, a compilation of the behavior of glamor stocks by Waid R. Vanderpoel, vice president, First National Bank of Chicago, shows that the price-to-earnings ratios of these stocks in computer, science, acquisition and electronics during the same period have been rising.

A study over a 12-year period of 15 issues on the bank's trust list with the highest earnings multiples shows that earnings premiums climbed steadily after 1957. The ability of these companies to continue earnings gains in years of recession whetted the appetite of stock buyers until such shares on the index by 1961 sold more than 57 times earnings. There was a dramatic downturn in such issues in 1961, but toward the end of last year such stocks were again quoted at nearly 53 times estimated 1967 earnings.

Premium Rise

These popular issues on the bank's index usually sold about 2 to 2½ times the price-to-earnings ratio of stocks in the Dow Jones industrial index. Toward the end of 1967, the premium had risen to more than three times.

In November 1956, the most wanted issues, which carried the biggest price-to-earnings premiums included Alcoa, Alcan, Continental Oil, Du Pont, General Electric, Union Carbide and IBM. Since that time the most wanted list of 15 issues have provided a combined principal and income return of 8.3% a year, as compared with 9.2% for the stocks in Standard & Poor's 425 stock industrial index.

On the other hand, the index of 15 relatively unwanted issues, with the lowest price-to-earnings ratios, including such shares as Anchor Hocking Glass, Associated Dry Goods, Burlington and Zenith produced a 10.0% annual return on income and appreciation.

Categories of industries whose shares have been recently quoted at significantly lower price-to-earnings ratios than their own 10-year averages include: utilities, chemicals, aluminums, tire and rubber, banks and packaged foods. On the other hand, recent market popularity has brought the price-to-earnings ratios of the subjoined industries substantially above their own 10-year average price-to-earnings ratio: office equipment, drugs, electronics and publishing.

Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Peru Expects 400 At Choral Clinic

Peru (UPI) — Nearly 400 students from 14 high schools will participate in the day-long sixteenth annual choral clinic festival at Peru State College Saturday.

An evening concert, open to the public, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in the college gymnasium.

Guest conductor will be Dr. Dale A. Jorgenson, head of the division of fine arts at Northeast Missouri State College, Kirksville.

Dr. Rose Named

Dr. Kenneth D. Rose of Lincoln has been reappointed a member of the American Medical Association's committee on exercise and physical fitness.

Hossack Seeks Funds For Bridge; Federal Officials Not 'Very Specific'

State Engineer John Hossack said Tuesday he inquired while in Washington last week about prospects for a new Interstate highway bridge at Sioux City, Iowa, but learned "nothing very specific."

He said he was given to understand that the prospects hinge on utilization in other states of new legislation which permits the addition of up to 200 miles to the national Interstate highway system if the costs of such additions are offset by other deletions from the system.

For example, a state could add five miles to its system and delete two miles, if the cost of the five miles did not exceed the projected cost of the deleted two miles.

Conceivably a state utilizing the legislation might have some money left over when additions cost less than the deletions, and federal officials believe this surplus could be shifted to some other state — such as to Nebraska and Iowa for the proposed bridge.

Hossack said he was advised that New Jersey is the only state so far to take advantage of the new 200-mile legislation, and no leftover money is in prospect in that state.

Congressmen and highway officials of both Iowa and Nebraska have sought the addition to the national Interstate system of a bridge segment linking Sioux City and South Sioux City, Neb. As an Interstate structure, the bridge would be financed 90% by federal money.

Hossack went to Washington to deliver personally a report to federal officials on the projects which Nebraska could undertake if allowed the full $36 million of federal funds apportioned the state this year, and the projects planned if the state is permitted to obligate only $28 million as called for under a recently-announced fund holdback designed to curb inflation.

Nebraska is in hopes that some states won't use as much money as the holdback order allows them to obligate and that Nebraska, having projects ready to go, will be permitted to spend some of this surplus.

Hossack said he does not expect to know until after July 1 — when all state reports have been received and studied — whether Nebraska actually will be able to thaw some of the frozen funds.

Hossack said he got "lots of sympathy — but no mon-

$5,129,652 Budget Set For CNPPID

Holdrege (UPI)—The Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District budget for 1968 anticipates expenditures of $5,129,652.

Included in this figure are expenses for hiring a firm of consulting engineers to study feasibility of automation of the district's three hydroelectric plants and its 75.6 mile long supply canal.

Also included were studies by the district's engineering department of the possibilities of precasting "T" concrete beam sections for bridge construction.

Silly Little Millimeters

When a television announcer asked him how tall he was, St. Bonaventure sophomore Bob Lanier replied, "6-10, and a silly millimeter longer."

And when a discussion involving St. Peter's coach Don Kennedy got around to tall cagers, he brought up his 6-1 Harry Laurie, noting, "He isn't that big and he doesn't jump that high, but he has the tallest fingers in the world."

Kennedy, whose team is now 17-1, says, "I was worried about senioritis. I have four starting. But so far, only my manager seems to be affected. He forgot the basketballs one game, the towels another and he really got upset when he forgot to pick up his girl."

Good News From Olympics

While much of the news coming out of the recent Winter Olympics was bad what with Russia attacking the U.S. policy on Vietnam, disqualifications, haggling over commercialism and an Austria skier getting a homer job that would have done most basketball conferences proud, there was one good bit of news coming out of Grenoble, France.

All the girls who took the sex test at the Olympics were found to be all girl.

Getting Hit With Ugly Stick

Jack Fickler, director of the Midwest Golden Gloves that take place in Omaha Friday and Saturday, recalls the first time he ever saw Cassius Clay was at the National Golden Gloves in Chicago.

"Cassius was fighting Jimmy Jones and the two were sitting together waiting for the fight," Fickler remembers. "Clay kept looking at Jones and shaking his head, saying to Jones, 'They must have beat you with an ugly stick when you was a kid.

"'No one could be as ugly as you without getting hit with an ugly stick. Why would they put someone as ugly as you in the same ring with someone as pretty as me?'"

Drop Away From Course

Quote of the month comes from Dean Martin, who says golfers should be allowed a two-club length drop away from the entire Spyglass Hill golf course, one of three used in the Crosby Tournament.

The greens there are so treacherous that Mike Fetchick four-putted from 12 feet on one hole; Lou Graham three-putted from five feet while trying to lag his first putt, and Arnold Palmer putted entirely off the green once.

Former Omaha Tech coach and NU graduate Neal Mosser is joining the basketball school craze, setting four sessions this summer from July 14 through Aug. 17. His instructors? Sons Tom, Jerry, Joe and Tim.

New Tennis Scoring System

It's called the Van Alen Simplified Scoring System with the first player reaching 31 points winning the set — similar to scoring used in table tennis.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, who once threw fast balls for the St. Louis Cardinals and has now become a popular banquet speaker, says one of his favorite jokes is about the fellow who had $45 and left town to make his fortune after his girl friend pledged she would marry him when he accumulated $50,000.

He returned seven years later, his girl friend raced into his arms, and asked, "How much money do you have now?"

NCAA Stops With 9 At-Large Invitations

By Associated Press

Top-ranked Houston will start its bid for the NCAA basketball championship against Loyola of Chicago March 9 and Army, Oklahoma City and Fordham were selected for New York's national Invitation Tournament Tuesday.

Altogether, nine at-large teams were picked for the NCAA 23-team field and three for the 14-team NIT, opening March 14.

Houston, 23-0 and the top-ranked team in the country, plays the first game of a double-header at Utah with New Mexico State meeting with winner of the Big Sky Conference title in the nightcap.

Boston College was picked to replace Duquesne in the NCAA tournament as Duquesne rejected a bid so it would await an NIT bid. Boston College will meet fourth-ranked St. Bonaventure in its first-round game at Rhode Island March 9.

Army, 18-4, and Fordham, 14-6, will each be making their fifth appearance in the NIT, though neither has finished higher than third. Oklahoma City, 17-6, has been in the tournament once previously.

East Regional at N.C. State — The first round winners at Maryland meet at 7 p.m., Atlantic Coast champ vs. Boston College-St. Bonaventure winner at 9.

Mideast Regional at Kentucky — Big Ten champ vs. Ohio Valley-Florida State winner at 7; Southeastern Conference champ vs. Mid-American-Marquette winner at 9.

West Regional at New Mexico-Pacific Eight champ vs. Big Sky-New Mexico State winner at 7; West Coach Conference champ vs. WAC champ at 9.

It was the fourth straight year the NCAA didn't use all its 11 at-large spots. The selection committee headed by H. B. Lee, Kansas State athletic director, explained the list of top western independents is small.

Kenya, Sudan, Iraq Withdraw

. . . LIST NOW AT 14

Nairobi, Kenya (AP) — The boycott of the 1968 Summer Olympics in Mexico City picked up momentum Tuesday, and three Scandinavian politicians urged Norway, Sweden and Denmark to reconsider the decision reinstating South Africa in the Olympic family.

Kenya, Sudan and Iraq announced their withdrawal from the Games starting Oct. 12 in protest of the vote by the International Olympic Committee last week to readmit South Africa.

So far 14 countries have declared themselves out of the Games, several others have indicated they will pull out too, and Soviet Union officials have said they have withdrawal under consideration.

The other 11 who have said they will not participate are Ethiopia, Algeria, Uganda, Tanzania, Ghana, Guinea, Mali, The Gambia, United Arab Republic, Syria and Somali.

South Africa was suspended by the IOC in 1963 because of the country's racial policies.

It was reinstated by the IOC at Grenoble, France, last week when it gave assurances that it would field an integrated team, traveling and living together, wearing the same uniforms and marching under the same flag.

But the South Africans continued their ban on competition between whites and nonwhites and integrated trials within the country.

Meanwhile in Mexico City, foreign minister Antonio Carrillo Flores said the Mexico City Organizing Committee acted correctly in inviting South Africa to participate. Another official said Mexico voted against reinstating South Africa.

Arrillo Flores said he hoped all invited countries would realize that Mexico was merely fulfilling its international commitments.

Rafael Solana, press chief for the Organizing Committee, returned Tuesday from Europe and said Mexico was among 26 countries that voted against South Africa. He said 36 nations voted in favor of reinstatement and there was one abstention.

Another official said privately, "It is ironic that one of the most integrated countries in the world should be the victim of a protest against racism."

The Council charged the IOC with a deliberate move to belittle independent black African countries.

"More than 20 states, mostly African, have been driven into the positions where they have no alternative but to withdraw," the Council said.

It claimed the IOC ignored the views of these countries to please South Africa, which, it asserted, had not changed its racial policies in sports since its expulsion in 1963.

The Council also said there was only one black African among the 71 IOC members and added: "We feel we cannot be a party to or support a decision made by a body which is predominantly European and which operates in complete disregard of African views and emotions."

Adams-Douglas Clash Set

. . . FOR DISTRICT D-2 CHAMPIONSHIP

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Coach Larry Coorts' Hornets whizzed by Brock, 61-42, while Douglas pulled away at the end to spill Cook, 53-42.

The two winners will meet for the district crown Thursday. The same two collided during the regular season and Adams was a 30-point winner, 96-66.

Both games were extremely ragged. It was due in part to tournament jitters. Other factors were also obvious.

First of all the tenth-rated Adams club obviously didn't take a Brock challenge very seriously and played that way. Though the Hornets never trailed, numerous turnovers and lazy defensive and backboard play kept the outclassed Pirates in the game for the first quarter, which ended with Adams in front 17-14.

The winners ran off eight straight points late in the second stanza to open up a 12-point bulge, 32-20, at halftime and the issue was settled.

The 19-point difference at the end was the biggest spread of the game. Adams' had a overpowering height advantage and Don Johnson, who paced the winners with 26, controlled both boards.

It was the third meeting of the year for Douglas and Cook. Each had won once. In this rubber match Douglas never trailed. The winners jumped to an eight point first quarter lead, then Cook went to work.

Douglas then steadily pulled away, breaking Cook's full court press for easy buckets, to build the biggest margin of the game, 11 points, at the final buzzer.

Neither team had a squad member over six feet, and Douglas will face the same advantage on the boards against Adams Thursday night in the finals that Brock did in this round.

Jayhawks Win, 74-65

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — Led by Jo Jo White's ball stealing and his 28 points, Kansas took charge early in the last half and beat Missouri 74-65 Tuesday night to stay on top in the tight Big Eight basketball race.

Kansas now stands 7-2 in league play and 16-5 for all games, while Missouri is 3-7 and 8-14. Missouri's Tom Johnson, hero of his team's 67-66 upset victory at Kansas, scored a career high of 33 points and led a late Tiger rally which twice closed the gap to six points.

Johnson's goal at the start of the second half gave Missouri a 37-33 lead. Then the Jayhawks clamped on a half-court press. Missouri went without a field goal for a span of 8:56, hit only four of eight at the line and got very few shots as White and his mates stole the ball. Kansas got 21 points in the same span for a 13-point lead, 54-41.

Johnson finally broke the spell and fueled the rally by hitting five shots in a row, but White pumped in six straight free throws and Dave Nash got a pair of layups down the stretch. White hit 10 of 14 field shots as Kansas hit 49 per cent to Mizzou's 40. Johnson was 9-for-13.

Prague, Gresham Gain D-6 Finals At Malcolm

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Malcolm — Prague rallied from an 11-point deficit early in the third quarter to whip Weston, 45-38, Tuesday night and advance to the D-6 basketball tournament finals against Gresham at 7:30 here Thursday night.

Gresham's small, young but well-balanced quintet gained the finals with a 64-51 victory over host Malcolm in the other semifinal contest Tuesday night.

Prague's victory was something of a surprise as the Panthers didn't appear to be in the ball game after a slow-moving first half in which they finished on the short end, 22-13.

The last of Urban's three late field goals was a layin off an effective press which forced fatal Weston turnovers and gave Prague a 40-38 advantage with 1:05 left in the game.

A free throw by Reuben Petrzelka and two each by Steve Houfek and Roger Brtek provided the final five tallies.

Aaron Gruber, a 5-8 soph, tallied 16, including a half-court shot which just beat the buzzer at the end of the third quarter. Ray Stoll, another 5-8 performer for Gresham, led all scorers with 20.

E. Butler Rips Milford, 61-56

David City — East Butler and Henderson moved into the semifinals of the Class C District Basketball Tournament here Tuesday night as they swept to victory in the David City Aquinas High School Gym.

East Butler's 61-56 win earned a spot against Henderson, who took a 56-45 verdict from David City. The pair will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday.

In the other semifinal game on Thursday's slate, Stromsburg will meet Osceola at 8:30 p.m.

Allen Rieger was the big man in Henderson's lineup as he pumped in 21 and nabbed 15 caroms.

The 6-4½ sophomore crammed in three field goals final stanza and boosted the Huskies to a 50-37 advantage.

Richard Osmera, who played with both knees in heavy wrapping, was all the drive the Tigers needed. Osmera played the floor general and accounted for 19.

He was helped by Ken Bohuslavsky with 11 and Lyle Dvorak, who had 20.

—TO BOXER MITCHELL—

Engel Trainee Biggest Threat

(Third of a Series)
By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

The last time Offutt airman Hal Mitchell fought in the Midwest Golden Gloves, it was a Bill Engel-coached fighter who provided his only real test before he reached the national tourney, and the same may be true this year.

Mitchell was uncontested in the Omaha District this year, just as he was out of the Southeast District in Lincoln in 1965, his last appearance in the Midwest Tournament that is set for the Omaha Civic Auditorium Friday and Saturday.

Engel again appears to have the only fighter in the tournament capable of testing the Omahan in the 156-pound division with 17-year-old Steve Eik of Sioux City coming out of the Norfolk District Tournament.

Eik earned the Omaha trip with a decision over Bob Hixson, a regular in the Midwest Tournament. It was his second close decision over Hixson within seven days.

Hixson could be placed into the tournament field again should someone drop out with tournament director Jack Fickler keeping him in mind as the No. 1 alternate.

South Dakota entry Dan Island, a loser to Lincoln's Charlie Humm in the Midwest finals at 175 pounds, last year, heads a tough field in the 165-pound division.

Island, who went to the national tourney as an alternate last year when Humm was unable to go, racked up several points for the Midwest team in the national meet.

The 165-pound list includes knockout artist Rick Bailey of Sioux City, fighting for the Norfolk team; Lincoln's Randy Nelson; Dan Peterson, a blond-haired battler from Omaha; and Gary Shovlain, named the outstanding fighter in the Grand Island District Tournament.

The entries:

156 Pounds

Bill Pankonin	McCook
Hall Mitchell	Omaha
Steve Eik	Norfolk
Rick Bentley	Scottsbulff
Ron Gebhart	South Dakota
Don Slingsby	Grand Island

165 Pounds

Randy Nelson	Lincoln
Jack Frease	McCook
Dan Peterson	Omaha
Rick Bailey	Norfolk
Dan Island	South Dakota
Gary Shovlain	Grand Island

Houston Tops UPI List Again

New York (UPI)—Unbeaten Houston was named the No. 1 team in college basketball for the fifth straight week Tuesday by the nation's coaches who also boosted suddenly hot Kentucky all the way up to fifth in the 12th weekly ratings of the 1967-68 season.

Hanging onto its slim lead over UCLA, Houston received 25 first place votes and 340 points while UCLA was named to the top spot on 10 ballots and amassed 324 points to trail the Cougars by only 16 in the voting by United Press International's 35-member board of coaches.

The 12th weekly United Press International major college basketball ratings for the 1967-68 season with first place votes and records of games played through Feb. 17 in parentheses:

1	Houston (25) (23-0)	340
2.	UCLA (10) (20-1)	324
3.	North Carolina (20-1)	274
4.	St. Bonaventure (18-0)	230
5.	Kentucky (17-4)	146
6.	Columbia (17-4)	139
7.	New Mexico (20-2)	136
8.	Vanderbilt (17-4)	96
9.	Duke (16-3)	79
10.	Louisville (16-6)	35

Second 10: 11. Tennessee 31; 12. Kansas 24; 13. New Mexico State 15; 14. Princeton 12; 15. (tie) Marquette and Utah 10; 17. Davidson 7; 18. Army 5; 19. Wyoming 4; 20 Southern California 3.

Ex-Husker Bahnsen Signs With Yankees

Major league baseball teams have begun receiving an increasing number of signed contracts as players ready themselves for spring training.

Among those coming to terms were Dean Chance, Minnesota pitcher, San Francisco hurlers Bob Bolin and Joe Gibbon and infielder Horace Clark and former Nebraska pitcher Stan Bahnsen with the Yankees.

Paul Brown Says He's Living Again

. . . AFTER RETURNING TO COACHING

New York (AP)—Paul Brown is living again, coaching a professional football team. After five years on the sidelines, Brown is back as part owner, coach and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League.

"I'm bloody well happy to be back as a coach," he said Tuesday during a break from a pro football meeting. "I'm living again. I felt I was wasting my life. There was nothing purposeful to look forward to.

"It is much more difficult organizing a team today than in 1946," he said. "The talent is spread out more thinly. It is more difficult from the standpoint of getting football players."

"From a technical point there is a little more option blocking in the line. They throw quite a bit more to the backs—deep. We didn't feature that so much. The backs are smaller, too, 195 and 200 pounders. There are not too many of those big studs, 230 and 240 pounds.

"Before they broke up that pair of Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, Green Bay had a pair of 220 pounders. Everybody likes to have two big ones when the going got sloppy in late season."

Brown, retired to the golf course at his La Jolla, Calif., home for five years, has been keeping his hand in watching the San Diego Chargers and the Los Angeles Rams. He made twice daily visits last summer to the training camp of the New Orleans Saints near his home.

"The defenses are very similar to what they were. And Green Bay ran a lot of football last season that it ran at us the last time we played them."

Brown said the most important step he took in setting up the Bengals was hiring a personnel director, Al LoCasale, even before he had the franchise. "Our lifeblood was at stake," he said.

Defending the trade with Miami in which the Bengals gave up two draft choices for quarterback John Stofa, Brown said, "We had to get somebody to get us out of the dressing room, to get us off the ground.

"If we had waited for the player allocation from the other AFL teams we wouldn't have had a quarterback. And the No. 1 quarterback taken in the draft, Greg Landry of Massachusetts, would have been a risk with possible military problems. We wanted a man who had made it or with a background of possibility of making it."

Would Brown, who reportedly used to call all the plays, let his quarterback pick his own?

"I never called them all," he said. "If we can help our quarterback we will. If he goes along fine, we'll let him go. Everybody has a game plan. We set up ours every Monday or Tuesday. In a real tough situation, we'll give him help.

"Only one thing counts, winning or losing. You do the best job you can with what you have. The simple way to coach would be to let the kids go. Then the reporters could second guess the kids."

Bold Accent Tops Fonner Race Entries

Grand Island—Bold Accent, owned by Paul Kemling of Aurora, tops a field of 85 home-bred three - year - olds named to the $3,000-added Fonner Park Breeder's Special to be run on April 29.

The filly's outstanding two-year-old record is so ominous that her presence has cut the list of nominees to the smallest in the recent history of the stake.

The crack daughter of Bold Lark and Docile Doge is Nebraska's all-time leading juvenile money winner with her 1967 earnings reaching $34,610. The impressive bankroll was reached with a successive string of eight victories at Oaklawn Park, Fonner Park, and Ak-Sar-Ben. she finished her two-year-old campaign with eight triumphs in ten starts.

After winning the Fonner Park Juvenile Stakes in Grand Island, Bold Accent reached the peak of her form at Ak-Sar-Ben. The homebred Miss won every major two-year-old offering in Omaha to win $28,050 and was second only to Single Needle in earnings for the meeting. Her list of triumphs at Ak-Sar-Ben included the $14,425 Juvenile Stakes, the $14,350 Futurity, the $11,225 Lassie, and the $6,000 Dinner Purse.

Bold Accent suffered her lone two defeats at Chicago's Arlington Park after campaigning at Omaha. The first setback of her career came in her ninth start after leading for a half mile against some of the top two-year-old fillies in the nation.

Omaha Pounds Kearney, 77-65

Omaha (AP) — Hot shooting by Tom McKernan and Marlin Briscoe, late in the first half, gave Omaha a ten point advantage and the Indians went on to a 77-65 basketball victory over Kearney State Tuesday night.

The score was tied at 28 with 3:12 left before the intermission when the Omaha shooters fashioned the 43-33 margin.

Kearney	33 32—65
Omaha	43 34—77

Kearney: Sandstrom 22, Sixel 13, Wilken 10, Wiley 6, Traudt 5, Koehler 4, Fisher 3, Karsten 2.

Omaha: McKernan 20, Haas 15, Briscoe 17, Williams 10, Stephens 10, Etter 5.

More Nebraska-Bred 2-Year-Olds Tabbed

Omaha — Nominations for the two-year-old division of Ak-Sar-Ben's Nebraska-bred Stakes program, to be run at the forthcoming race meeting, May 3 through July 6, closed Feb. 1 with four more nominations than last year.

The three Stakes races for two-year-old homebreds are the $10,000-added Ak-Sar-Ben Lassie Stakes for fillies to be run June 7; the $10,000-added Ak-Sar-Ben Laddie Stakes for colts and geldings scheduled for June 14, and the $15,000-added Ak-Sar-Ben Futurity programmed for June 28.

'Phil Who?' Showing New York Fans Now

. . . JACKSON BEGINNING TO BE NOTICED

New York (AP)—It would be an understatement to say Phil Jackson joined the National Basketball Association quietly.

Compared to the fanfare that accompanied the signing of the New York Knickerbockers' other two rookies—Walt Frazier and Bill Bradley—the coming of Phil Jackson was ho-hum to say the least.

The typical reaction of Knick fans upon learning of the drafting and signing of the gangling 6-foot-8 rookie from North Dakota University was "Phil who?" But with the lack of publicity, there also was a lack of pressure and Jackson thinks "this really helped me."

However, Jackson feels a little more publicity wouldn't have hurt. The fans, not being familiar with his ability, didn't expect anything from him, and when he had trouble in early games they quickly forgot about him.

"When I didn't produce early this year, the fans got on me," Jackson recalls. "If I had had a bigger name, more people might have had confidence in me."

They're starting to now. In the last six weeks, Jackson has been playing more—even more than Bradley, the superstar from Princeton — and looking better and better.

"I think the turning point was when Red Holzman took over, and he said I was going to play more," Jackson explained.

Holzman, who replaced Dick McGuire as coach Dec. 27, had scouted Jackson at North Dakota, where he set 17 school scoring records.

The play-and-learn program seems to be paying dividends. The rookie forward scored 22 points in a losing effort against St. Louis Feb. 9, then turned in his most impressive performance by scoring 24 points and grabbing six rebounds as the Knicks beat Seattle last Sunday.

The 22-year-old native of Deer Lodge, Mont., also plans to continue his non-basketball education during the off-season by working for a masters degree in counselling and guidance.

He's already succeeded in guiding New York fans to the knowledge that fanfare is a colorful part of the sport, but it doesn't mean a thing once the game starts.

Canadiens' Blake Looks Behind Him

Montreal (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens have zoomed into a solid lead in the East Division of the National Hockey League by winning 18 of their last 19 games. But Coach Toe Blake is characteristically looking behind him.

'Sure, we're in better shape that we were a month ago. But it doesn't take long to go down," Blake said Tuesday. He added that the Chicago Black Hawks, New York Rangers and Boston Bruins all have a chance of catching his streaking club in the final six weeks of the regular campaign.

The Black Hawks are in second place, six points behind the leaders. The third-place Rangers are eight points back, one point in front of fourth-place Boston.

The Canadiens themselves were in last place in the six-team division a little more than a month ago. They put together an unbeaten string of 16 games, including 12 straight victories, though, and moved up quickly. The skein ended when they were beaten by the Rangers, 3-0 on Feb. 4.

Now, Montreal has another five-game winning streak going.

"I would have to make our improvement a combination of everything," Blake said. "When you can put lines together—the same men—for a few games in a row, then the team starts to roll."

The coach blamed injuries to key players for the club's poor early-season performance.

"We lost Jean Bliveau, Henri Richard and Yvan Cournoyer for long stretches," he pointed out. "Beliveau played well enough when he was in, but we didn't have him that long."

Hastings Tribune Sports Ed Quits

Hastings (AP)—Hank Lewenkron, sports editor of the Hastings Daily Tribune for the last 3½ years, announced Tuesday he has resigned to become sports editor of the Freeport, Ill., Journal Standard.

Lewenkron will assume his new post March 20.

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., came to Nebraska while on active duty with the Air Force, attended the University of Nebraska School of Journalism and then spent 1½ years with the Lincoln Sunpapers before going to Hastings.

York JC Hits Norfolk, 102-71

Norfolk (AP) — York Junior College broke it open in the second half and rushed to a 102-71 basketball victory over Norfolk JC Tuesday night.

Ken Weare was high for York with 26 points. Ernie Boone led Norfolk with 21.

McBride Is Reported Improved In Uruguay

Washington — A cable to Nebraska Sen. Carl Curtis from U.S. ambassador John Topping indicates that Lincolnite Gregg McBride is slowly improving in a British hospital in Montevideo, Uruguay.

McBride, retired Omaha World-Herald sports writer, suffered a stroke while on a South American cruise and has been hospitalized a week.

City Rec Department To Offer Golf Class

Boycott Fears Are Growing In Mexico

Mexico City (AP)—With growing frustration, Mexico received scattered reports Tuesday of a blossoming boycott against the 1968 Summer Olympics.

So far 14 countries, mostly African, have announced their refusal to compete in the October games here because South Africa has been readmitted.

"It is ironic that one of the most integrated countries in the world should be the victim of a protest against racism," said one official privately.

Rafael Solana, press chief for the Mexican Organizing Committee, returned from the Winter games in France Tuesday, stressing that Mexico was among 26 countries who voted against South African admittance. The mail vote was counted last week in Grenoble.

Solana added, however, that 36 countries voted in favor of South Africa. There was one abstention.

"When the results of the voting were announced there were protests from all sides," Solana said. "In France there was a rain of protests from inside and outside the country. The most vehement came from the Soviet Union and the African countries. These countries immediately communicated their decision to withdraw."

Elgin's Iburg Ignores Extra Pressure

. . . PLAYER OF WEEK LEADS UNBEATEN EAGLES

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

When a basketball player earns all-star recognition before he becomes a senior, the pressure is really on him the next year.

He's expected to be the star, better than before, even though the opposition will be keying on his every move, thus making even an equal performance that much tougher.

That's why Elgin High's Dale Iburg runs away with Player of the Week honors.

At the Sandhills Gateway tournament Dale led the Eagles to the tourney title, and was selected the outstanding athlete in the conference for the second straight year.

Iburg hopes to lead Elgin to the state tournament this year. The Eagles wound up the regular season as the only unbeaten Class D team in the state. Last year, despite a fine 17-3 record, Elgin failed to win its district title.

With Iburg doing even better than should be expected, don't count them out this time.

Don Augustin, Osceola — With five seconds left Don hit two points to settle a 71-69 battle with Henderson. The same two may meet again in this week's Class C-5 tourney at David City.

Kip Reeves, Crawford — Reeves came up with a career high of 36 points to help the Rams top Hemingford 78-71. He meshed 16 field goals in the close game.

Joe Casmer, Lincoln High — Another big night against East High was just one of many for the city's leading scorer. Casmer scored 23 against the Spartans Friday night.

Randy Lemke, Bloomfield — Friday night Randy had 29 points, came through with 27 on Saturday as the Bees stretched their seasons record to 13-4. The last win, 60-54, was over Madison which is ranked over Bloomfield in the upcoming District B-5 tourney which opens next week.

All NY Mets Under Contract For '68 Season

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP) — The New York Mets had their entire baseball team under contract for the 1968 season after pitcher Al Jackson, a former Lincoln Chief, signed for a reported $30,000 Tuesday.

'Intelligence Confirmed Tonkin Attacks'

. . . McNAMARA MAKES STATEMENT TO FULBRIGHT PANEL

© New York Times Service

Washington — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara disclosed Tuesday that the administration had "highly classified and unimpeachable" intelligence information establishing that two American destroyers had come under North Vietnamese attack in the Gulf of Tonkin in August, 1964.

He made the disclosure in a statement to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as it began a politically sensitive reexamination of the Tonkin incidents.

Turning Point

The incidents—an Aug. 2 attack on the destroyer Maddox and an Aug. 4 attack on the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy—proved to be a critical turning point in U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

In reprisal for the attacks, the administration ordered the first air strike against North Vietnam and obtained congressional approval of the Tonkin resolution which endorsed "all necessary measures" taken by the executive branch to "prevent further aggression."

In reopening the Tonkin incidents 3½ years later, the committee is questioning the whole decision-making, command-and-control procedure followed by the administration in reacting to the reported attacks by North Vietnamese PT boats.

Aug. 2 Accepted

But questions are being raised by the committee as to whether the Aug. 4 night engagement occurred and, more importantly, whether the administration had conclusive proof of the attack before ordering the reprisal raids and obtaining congressional endorsement of the Tonkin resolution.

The resolution was later characterized by the State Department as the "functional equivalent" of a declaration of war.

Suspicion

Underlying these questions is a suspicion among some committee members that the administration interpreted inconclusive and circumstantial evidence of the Aug. 4 attack in light of a pre-disposition within the executive branch to carry the war to North Vietnam.

McNamara emphatically denied that the United States had somehow provoked the Aug. 4 incident or used it as a pretext for attacking North Vietnam.

He characterized as "monstrous" insinuations that "in some way the government of the United States induced the incident on 4 August with the intent of providing an excuse to take the retaliatory action which we in fact took."

'Attack Took Place'

McNamara acknowledged that "some uncertainty" existed then and now about "some of the precise details" of the second attack. But he said, "there should be no uncertainty about the fact that an attack took place."

It was apparent from the McNamara statement that in reaching the decision to retaliate, the administration placed considerable reliance on secret intelligence information obtained by monitoring North Vietnamese radio command circuits.

Shortly before the Aug. 4 engagement, he said, "an intelligence report of a highly classified and unimpeachable nature" was received stating that North Vietnamese naval forces intended to attack the Maddox and Turner Joy.

Then during the attack, he continued, another intelligence report was received stating that the North Vietnamese patrol craft had reported they were involved in the engagement.

And finally, he said, there was another intelligence report stating the North Vietnamese forces had reported losing two boats in the engagement.

Until the McNamara statement Tuesday, the Defense Department had repeatedly declined to discuss whether it had electronic intelligence information confirming the North Vietnamese attacks on the ground that such information was secret. It was also understood that the department had declined to make such information available to the committee staff in its study of the Tonkin incidents.

Likely To Build Tension

The fact that McNamara has now chosen to make such information public and to make such prominent use of it in defense of the administration's case seemed likely to add to the tensions between the committee and the executive branch over the Tonkin incidents. But perhaps even more aggravating to the committee was the manner in which the administration chose to make public the McNamara statement.

In defiance of the long-standing protocol that witness statements should be made public only with the approval of the committee, the department made the McNamara statement available to Pentagon reporters without the knowledge or approval of the committee.

The statement was handed out by the Pentagon press office after the morning session at which Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, had advised McNamara against making the statement public immediately. The secretary, according to Fulbright, made no commitment, but noted that the department was "under considerable pressure from the Pentagon press corps."

Annoyed

Fulbright was obviously annoyed at the secretary's action, but declined to make an immediate rebuttal statement.

McNamara spent the entire day before a closed-door meeting of the committee in what one member described as "an extremely tense confrontation." He said the defense secretary was subjected to "searching examination of the details of the decision-making process" in the Tonkin incidents.

On some important points, McNamara modified or elaborated upon his testimony given Aug. 6, 1964, before a joint meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

In that meeting McNamara repeatedly made the point that the Maddox and Turner Joy were on "routine patrol" in international waters. Tuesday, however, McNamara disclosed that the two destroyers were also on an intelligence gathering mission and that one purpose of their patrol was "visual and electronic surveillance of the area."

Conclusion Disputed

Disputing conclusions drawn in the committee staff study, McNamara contended that at no time during the patrol did either destroyer "leave the high seas and enter area claimed by North Vietnamese or recognized by the United States as national waters."

In making this contention, McNamara disclosed that in the U.S. view, North Vietnam only claimed territorial water of three miles. When this point was raised in the 1964 hearings it was removed from the published testimony by the Pentagon.

Only after the Tonkin incidents, McNamara contended, did North Vietnam claim territorial waters stretching to 12 miles. The Maddox, he said, was under instructions not to approach closer than eight nautical miles to North Vietnam, and after the first attack the two destroyers were instructed to remain at least 11 miles off the coast and on their own initiative came no closer than 16 miles.

BERTRAM PODELL

Organization Demo Defeats Critic Of LBJ

New York (AP) — An organization Democrat defeated an anti-Johnson party maverick Tuesday in a four-man contest for Congress that revolved around attitudes on the Vietnam war.

The winner in the Brooklyn race was Bertram A. Podell, who ran about 4 to 3 over reform Democrat Melvin Dubin. Republican and Conservative candidates trailed far behind.

Dubin, running as an independent, had said he would not fight in Vietnam if he were of draft age.

With votes in from all but one of the 358 election districts, the count was Podell 29,982, Dubin 23,474, Republican Gerald L. Held 3,935 and Conservative Michael V. Ajello 2,876.

Podell's victory made the political lineup in Congress: 247 Democrats, 187 Republicans and one vacancy.

Doctor's Got More Scotties Than Thought

Burlington, Vt. (AP) —Dr. Bernard Barney took his two Scottie dogs with him into the vault at the Howard National Bank and Trust Co. to examine his safety deposit box Monday.

When he returned there were three Scottie dogs.

Mabel Scott, vault attendant, wrapped the new arrival in a cloth and commented: "Anything for a fellow Scott."

Rowe Head Of Johnson Campaign

© New York Times Service

Washington — James H. Rowe Jr., a Washington lawyer, who has been a friend of several presidents, will serve as the chief political adviser to President Johnson in this year's election campaign, according to Democratic Party leaders.

Democratic National Committee sources say Johnson's campaign will involve a number of important Democrats. These include Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey — who already is moving into the role of chief campaigner because of the President's preoccupation with the Vietnam war — Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien, and W. Marvin Watson, Johnson's appointments secretary and top political aide in the White House.

There was speculation earlier that the campaign manager would be O'Brien, who has been a top political strategist for both Johnson and President Kennedy.

Heart Transplant Fails In Bombay

Bombay, India (AP) — The first heart transplant in Asia was performed in Bombay Sunday, but the patient died three hours later, King Edward Memorial Hospital announced Tuesday.

The patient, 27, was dying of cardiomyopathy, an ailment of the heart muscle. He was identified as Bodhan Chittan, a native of Rajasthan.

He was given the heart of 20-year-old Miss Lalita Balkrishna, who died of a brain injury. Chittan died of a lung complication after a 2½ hour operation, the hospital said.

Administrators Report No Split

Washington (AP) — Officials of the American Association of School Administrators (AASA) said Tuesday there are no plans for a separation between the organization and its parent body, the National Education Association (NEA).

William Curtis, president of AASA, said the association "will do everything possible to keep intact the present relationship between NEA and AASA."

Wealthy Indians Gasp At Blouses

New Delhi (AP)—Some of India's wealthy set gasped at see-through blouses modeled without underwear at a showing of Parisian Pierre Cardin's spring collection in connection with the current U.N. Conference on Trade and Development in the Indian capital.

Real Alcoholism Issues Said Buried In Debate

The real issues of alcoholism are being buried by legislative and clerical debate, the Lincoln Council of Alcoholism was told at its annual meeting Tuesday night.

"We've majored in minors while the giants stand and thumb their noses at us," said the Rev. Philip L. Hansen, past president and current secretary of the Minnesota Council on Alcoholism.

Some of the minors are liquor by the drink, Sunday drinking and licensing laws. The real giants, Rev. Hansen said, are drinking and driving, youth drinking, family problems and public apathy.

Foundation Worker

Rev. Hansen acts as clergy consultant and council member of the Hazelden Foundation, an alcoholism rehabilitation center in White Bear Lake, Minn.

While not actually advocating Sunday liquor sales, Rev. Hansen decried the attention given to debate over these "picky laws." He said that since Minnesota got Sunday liquor by local option newspapers have been asking, "Where are all the Sunday drunks?"

The real issues, Rev. Hansen said, go much deeper toward the problem of alcoholism.

Top Problem

"Between now and 1970 some tremendous things will happen," he said. "Alcoholism isn't a chronic illness. It's America's number one health problem."

He explained that though there are five or six million alcoholics, one out of eight Americans—25 million — is emotionally involved through family contact with alcoholism.

"I spend 90 to 95% of my time with the mates of alcoholics," he said. "Sometimes they are sick or sicker than the alcoholic."

Must Solve

Adolescent drinking according to Rev. Hansen is a problem which adults have created and which they must solve.

Hansen said 80% of the minors in Minnesota are drinking but because of the hypocrisy of the laws "they're using it and no one has ever given them any training. Herein lies the breeding ground for future alcoholism.'

Stricter legislation about drinking and driving must be passed, Rev. Hansen said, adding that alcohol limits for driving are too high. He criticized the legal system by saying "if you have enough money to hire a lawyer you can't lose" in a drunken driving complaint.

Urges Substitute

Rev. Hansen urged substituting detoxification centers for the "police court revolving door" technique of treating alcoholics.

"You can be sick enough to die from it (alcoholism), but not sick enough to get into a hospital—unless you happen to know the right doctor," he said.

He also criticized the attitude of the public for not permitting abstinence and a polite "no thank you." He said a real temperance movement will occur in the future as drinkers learn to trust each other.

Judge Bartlett E. Boyles was re-elected chairman of the council. Other officers elected include Don Bergquist, first vice president; Dr. C. J. Forsberg, second vice president; Nancy Weesner, secretary; Ralph Fox, treasurer.

Nebraska City, Lincoln Students Cited By Honor Ag Society At NU

John T. Wirth of Nebraska City and Mrs. Judith R. Seaver Boyle of Lincoln were specially honored Tuesday night by the University of Nebraska chapter of Gamma Sigma Delta, honor society of agriculture.

The two juniors in the College of Agriculture and Home Economics were presented scholarship certificates and $100 checks as last year's outstanding sophomores.

Honored guests included 20 juniors and 26 sophomores. They are:

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

About 250,000 babies are born in the United States every year with significant birth defects.

Finding a downtown parking place in almost any city from New York to Singapore has become the modern equivalent of looking for a needle in a haystack.

The horseshoe crab, a relative of spiders and scorpions, crawled the ocean floor 400 million years ago, long before dinosaurs and fish came along, making it a true living fossil.

Antarctica's only street lamps glow at McMurdo Sound, the U.S. Base.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

A X Y D L B A A X R
to L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the etters under the checked figures gives you.
